WORLD FLIERS HOP FOR ALASKA

Today

Mussolini's New Job. Flight From Prohibition. Books on the Index. China Orders Airplanes.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

AT GENOA bombs blew a hole 15 feet square in one of the royal palaces. Three other blasts attacked car barns and factories.

One hundred arrests were made immediately, although the origin of the bombing is unknown.

The attack on a royal palace would indicate Communist activity. The bombing of factories, under Fascist control, might indicate revenge for recent attacks on churches and monasteries.

The dynamiter, as England learned through years of experience, is hard to handle.

It will be interesting to see how Mussolini will deal with him.

THE POST-GATTY airplane started to go around the world in 10 days. If the plane had not been bogged, on landing, in mud of a Siberian village, the trip might have been made in eight days.

Flights across the ocean now attract comparatively little attention. Three such flights may start this week.

FOR THE PROSPEROUS class, the problem of prohibition and the uncertain quality of bootleg supplies will be solved by the flying machine. Canda or Bermuda will be only two or three hours distant and, before long, week-end trips to Europe will be popular.

Then the government will worry about the amount of American money spent abroad, as Ireland used to worry about landlords spending their rents in England.

THE WHITE HOUSE denies, without allowing any definite quotation, rumors about relaxations of restrictions against beer. All hope abandon you that crave for beer, is the substance of it, unless you have a reliable bootlegger, with ale really made in Canada.

It was hardly to be believed that the administration would trifle with the prohibition situation before the 1932 campaign.

MEANWHILE, THE Wickersham commission goes out of existence, tomorrow, having spent much public money for nothing. It reminds you, in its farewell, of the disappointing firecrackers that only sizzle. A commission is useful to relieve the head man of responsibility, but rarely produces results.

THE CATHOLIC Church, through the Congregation of the Holy Office, has placed on the index of prohibited books four by the French philosopher Leroy, teacher at the College of France.

Leroy says it is impossible to demonstrate the existence of God or to prove any difference between the creator and things created. He denies that God created the soul.

IN THE LIGHT of modern knowledge, what one man affirms or denies is not important. Nobody ever saw electricity, although we see sparks and lightning flashes, and the burned bodies of criminals that electricity has killed. No one knows what it is.

It is impossible to prove the existence of many things that we know exist, and condemnation of Prof. Leroy's books is interesting only because Leroy declares himself an ardent Catholic.

There was a time when the index of forbidden books was valuable to men of science, as a catalog of new ideas, all new ideas, including the suggestion that the earth goes around the sun, being at one time forbidden. That is changed now, and, unlike some more backward Protestant teachers, the Catholic church now allows the teaching of evolution theories in its universities.

CHILDREN FROM Catholic schools are allowed to visit the Museum of Natural History which contains magnificent demonstrations of the changes in animal life through evolution.

IT IS NOT long since a Protestant clergyman affirmed, on Bible authority, that every man has one rib fewer on one side than on the other, because one was taken out to make Eve.

Asked to examine a man's skeleton and see for himself that the number of ribs is the same on both sides, he replied:

"I know that it is not so, and I should consider it blasphemous to investigate the matter."

KILLINGS BY brigands, "Reds" and government authorities, when they catch the brigands or "Reds," continue in China.

China's "Reds" alone are said by civic authorities of Changsha to have killed 400,000 within five years, and this is a comparatively small area.

CANTON, OPPOSED to domination by Northern China, has been purchasing war materials with considerable intelligence. The purchases include 36 airplanes, 16 of them from America.

Thirty-six airplanes, with only 108 Chinese in them, can do more to worry Northern Chinese cities than 136,000 Cantonese marching along the ground.

IN NEW YORK City, colored men, and some whites, paraded in protest against the proposed execution of eight Negroes in Alabama, one of them a boy in his teens.

The eight Negroes are to be killed on the complaint of two white women that were traveling in a freight car in which the Negroes stole a ride. The character of the women is not made clear and it is suggested that if the eight men had been

LANG AIDES CALLED IN BUYING QUIZ

Bank Accounts of Kline Scanned; Waldschmidt, Mayor's Solicitor, Testifies

Indicating the widening of the investigation of city purchases, the grand jury this afternoon heard testimony of John D. Stevenson, chief engineer of the bureau of bridges, and F. C. Coder, division engineer of the Department of Public Works. Thelma Giles, stenographer in the Bureau of Highways and Sewers, also testified.

Stevenson was called after the jurors had spent the greater part of the day scanning the private financial affairs of Mayor Charles H. Kline, Bertram L. Succop, former head of the Department of Supplies, and other members of the official family of Mayor Kline.

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, one of Kline's aides, was a witness during the morning session.

AUDITOR TO BE CALLED

After hearing Coder, the grand jury adjourned until 9:30 a. m. tomorrow when it is expected that M. C. Conick, of Main and Company, Citizen's Committee auditors, will will go before the jury to explain the bank records submitted today. These records are said to involve the accounts of Mayor Kline, Succop, Waldschmidt, City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley and Frank Swaney, secretary to the Mayor.

It was learned that more than 100 subpenas had been served by county detectives during the week-end. The list is said to include the names of many city and county employes in addition to 46 representatives of many of Pittsburgh's leading financial and brokerage houses.

Although its nature has not been revealed, it was learned that some very important testimony had been obtained already by the probers.

Waldschmidt had not been subpenaed, but came to the grand jury ante room at the request of Special Prosecutor Earl F. Reed and appeared before the jurors following a conferencec with Cornick.

PUBLIC WORKS QUIZ

The subpenaing of Stevenson and Coder was believed to indicate a branching out of the investigation into the Department of Public Works. At the time of the Henry Oliver Evans investigation before City Council of charges of inefficiency in the works department it was learned Stevenson and Coder had protested the letting of bridge railing contracts to others than the lowest bidder. Questioned by Evans, Director Edward G. Lang of the department is understood to have explained the action by stating that the city bought the material from certain

City Solicitor Waldschmidt today as he entered the grand jury room for 10 minutes. His affairs and those of Mayor and Mrs. Kline and other members of Kline's official family are under scrutiny in the probe of the city's purchasing methods.

SEEK ROBBERS IN 3 HOLDUPS

Morris Weiner, of 5728 Darlington road, was struck with a revolver when he attempted to block a holdup of his confectionery, 1508 Center avenue, by two Negroes. They escaped with $35 from the till. William Bella, 23, was robbed of $14 when he entered the store. Two other customers were cowed by the bandits' guns.

The Negroes, police say, earlier held up R. A. Webber, manager of a chain store at 2176 Wylie avenue, and escaped with $10 and the manager's watch.

Entering from the front and rear doors, two Negroes, a man and a woman, today held up John Leon in his resturant, 1708 Beaver avenue, and robbed him of $97. The thieves did not molest the till, which contained $14, Leon said.

Thieves who broke into the Ritz Theater, 219 Fifth avenue, stole $25, and broke three vending machines, causing damage of $150.

MELLON'S DEBT NEGOTIATIONS DEADLOCKED

Parley Reaches Tense Point As Conferees Fail to Arrive at Settlement

PARIS, June 29.—(AP.)—Andrew W. Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, conferred again today with Premier Laval on the issues raised by President Hoover's war debt moratorium proposal and at the conclusion of the conference the Premier announced he would meet with the Americans again this evening.

Before the evening meeting the French cabinet will hold a session at Elysee Palace. It was assumed that the cabinet was convoked to examine suggestions advanced by the American negotiators earlier in the day.

DIFFICULTIES BOB UP

Difficulties which have not been settled were encountered in the conversation between Mr. Mellon and the French premier.

The negotiations, it was said, have reached a most delicate point. Before going any further, Premier Laval decided it would be best to receive the advice of his entire cabinet.

All questions involved in the Hoover proposal—political as well as financial—were examined by the American secretary and the head of the French government.

SITUATION TENSE

No effort was made on either side to hide the fact that negotiations over the war debt and reparations holiday had reached a most tense point.

It was explained that embarrassment on the part of both negotiators was in large measure caused by the fact that each was conscious of the susceptibilities of the parliament behind him. Mr. Mellon, with Congress in mind, and the French Premier, who had to consider the Chamber of Deputies, found it hard to make concessions necessary to reach a rapid accord.

U. S. to Insist on Hoover Terms, Castle Declares

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP.)—A reiteration of the American stand against any change in President Hoover's proposal for a war debt holiday which departs from the spirit of the plan as enunciated by him came today from the State Department.

Acting Secretary Castle announced after giving the President a report of this morning's negotiations by Secretary Mellon in Paris that there still were "some technical points to be settled" and that the United States would "accept no offer which does not fall completely within the spirit and purpose of the President's proposal."

By some officials it was said that Secretary Mellon had stood firmly against a proposal that Germany make in 1932 two years' payment of installments styled as unconditional under the Young plan.

MINERS' MARCH ON WILDWOOD ABANDONED

Tear Gas Routs Paraders At Ellsworth; Walsh to Restrict Strikers in City

Developments in the miners' strike in Pittsburgh and vicinity today were:

1—The march on the Wildwood mine by the members of the National Miners' Union, in defiance of a court order, was postponed as Sheriff Robert Cain mobilized his forces to prevent the demonstration.

2—A miner was injured and four persons arrested when a force of deputies and borough officers blocked with tear gas a march of striking miners in Ellsworth near the Bethel mines.

3—The Miners' Relief Fund announced facilities have been obtained to carry on extensive relief to striking miners.

The march on the Wildwood mine by members of the National Miners Union, in defiance of a court order, set for this afternoon, was called off as Sheriff Robert Cain marshaled his force of deputies to prevent it. Cancellation of the march until after tomorrow's demonstration on the North Side was announced by the Allegheny County strike committee of the National Miners' Union.

GO TO MINE

Sheriff Cain, declaring he had not been officially notified of the postponement of the demonstration, left Pittsburgh with 12 of his regular deputies for the Wildwood mine. Meanwhile, scores of other deputies and a large detachment of state police mobilized shortly after noon.

In denying the National Miners' Union permission to assemble its participants in tomorrow's unemployed parade and march them from several different points, Supt. Walsh said he had granted a permit for one parade only. To march into the city as planned, Walsh said, would demoralize traffic. The police superintendent declared he would assign details of police to points around the city limits where the marchers had planned to enter. The officers will be armed with tear gas

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 29.—(AP.)—One man was shot and wounded and another was clubbed with a gun butt in a disturbance at Bradley mine No. 1 at Smithfield, near here, today, in connection with the Eastern Ohio coal strike.

The injured men, Stanley Karnich, 32, and Gabo Kado, 29, were placed in the Smithfield jail. Karnich received a minor wound from a gunshot, alleged by strikers to have been fired by mine guards, and Kado was struck on the head.

Deputy sheriffs said the disturbance followed refusal of about 100 pickets to disperse when ordered away from the properties by the mine guards.

Sidney B. Wood, Jr., another young American Davis Cup star, also gained the semi-finals by defeating G. P. Hughes, British veteran, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3., 6-1, but John Van Ryn was eliminated by Fred Perry, of England, 6-4, 8-6, 7-5.

City Acts to Provide Poor Pupils Milk in Summer

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt will co-operate with an attorney representing the Board of Education in drafting an ordinance for City Council to provide money for milk distribution to undernourished children of kindergarten and school age during the summer vacation.

This move was decided at a meeting today between representatives of the school board and Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the Department of Public Welfare, and Dr. C. V. Maits, public health director.

The meeting resulted when the Board of Education learned it did not have the authority to provide the milk distribution when schools were not in session.

Dr. A. L. Lewin, representing the school board, estimated that between 6,000 and 7,000 children are in need of milk service.

PLANE SOARS OVER SEAS IN NORTH

Post, Gatty on Perilous 2,000-Mile Flight From Siberian Town to Nome

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, June 29.—(AP.)—On the last long hop of their aerial dash around the world, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty left here at 5 p. m., Shanghai time (5 a. m., Pittsburgh time), today, hoping to reach Nome, Alaska, 2,100 miles distant across the North Pacific, without a stop.

Behind them lay about 9,250 miles of land and sea, over which they had flown in four days, 21 hours and 34 minutes. Ahead of them was approximately 5,750 miles, including the hazardous trip across the Straits of Tartary, the Sea of Okhotsk, the Kamchatka Peninsula and the Bering Sea, which stood between them and Nome.

COSTLY DELAYS

Far ahead of their 10-day schedule when they encountered their first trouble at Blagoveshchensk, the stop immediately preceding the Khabarovsk landing, Post and Gatty had experienced two costly delays when they left here.

Their monoplane Winnie Mae stuck in a mud hole at Blagoveshchensk and it took 14½ hours to get it out and ready to start. Here they spent 26½ precious hours overhauling their plane, resting and waiting for advantageous weather. Their take-off here marked the beginning of their seventh day.

STORM FORMING

Weather reports along their route varied. The Kamchatka Peninsula area was reported to be both clear and stormy. The Bering Sea was reported clear, but Japanese advices said a storm was forming in the Japan Sea and moving in a general direction toward their path.

Post and Gatty believed weather conditions were satisfactory, however, and left suddenly, expecting a smooth flight straight to Nome, after working the better part of a night and a day on their plane.

Both Russian and foreigners joined in giving them a cordial send off. A large crowd was at the landing field when the Winnie Mae shot into the air, circled twice and shot eastward in the approaching darkness.

Pierre du Pont Opposing Erection of Own Statue

WILMINGTON, Del., June 29.—(AP.)—Pierre S. du Pont has placed his disapproval on a plan to erect a monument to him in Wilmington in recognition of his public benefactions.

An unidentified donor some time ago set aside funds for the monument and Chevalier Anthony Belo, sculptor of Astoria, L. I., was commissioned to make the statue.

Du Pont, prior to sailing for Europe early last week, sent a letter to Belo and to the sculptor's secretary here, Elio Cenci, expressing his disapproval of the plan. The letter said:

"My attention has been called to a letter regarding the making of a statue of me to be erected somewhere in Wilmington.

"I wish to record that I am unalterably opposed to this project and request the return of any photographs that you may have obtained for the purpose of obtaining my likeness.

"The project does not have my consent or approval and I shall oppose its carrying out in every way possible. I trust that you will proceed no further in the matter."

Norway has never recognized Denmark's sovereignty over Eastern Greenland, the official Norwegian policy being that this area is no man's land.

HOOVER BOARD BEER REPORT HINTS PERSIST

Wickersham Hints Increase After Statement by Beck Cites Economic Advantage

By EARL L. SHAUB
Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Reports persisted in many quarters here today that the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission, in concluding its work tomorrow, will render a special report pointing out the economic advantages to be derived by restoring the sale of light wines and beer under federal control.

Publication, however, may not be made for some time as the work of drafting the final reports of the commission is yet to be done.

RUMORS CONTINUE

Rumors that such a report will be made continued to be circulated, despite recent White House denial that the President contemplated making any pronouncement on the matter and assertions from the commission that it would have nothing further to say on prohibition.

The first of these reports originated last week over a ticker wire from the coast and said the President would make a statement favoring a wine and beer resumption. This report was denied on Friday at the White House.

Belief that some recommendation in regard to wine and beer is being contemplated was given additional strength yesterday when Representative James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, issued a statement in which he praised the President's moratorium plan and urged the President to support a bill for the modification of the Volstead Act to permit the sale of a non-intoxicating wine and beer.

ANTI-DRYS PLAN FIGHT

Beck pointed out that this would net at least $500,000,000 in taxes and help make up the big deficit in the Treasury.

Another statement along this line was issued today by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which pointed out that repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment would provide enough revenue to wipe out the deficit in one year.

There are indications that the anti-prohibitionists will make a real fight in the coming Congress to have sale of 4 per cent beer legalized. Representative Leonidas C. Dyer, of Missouri, is prepared to lead the fight for modification of the Volstead Act.

BIG CONTRACTS LET IN STATE

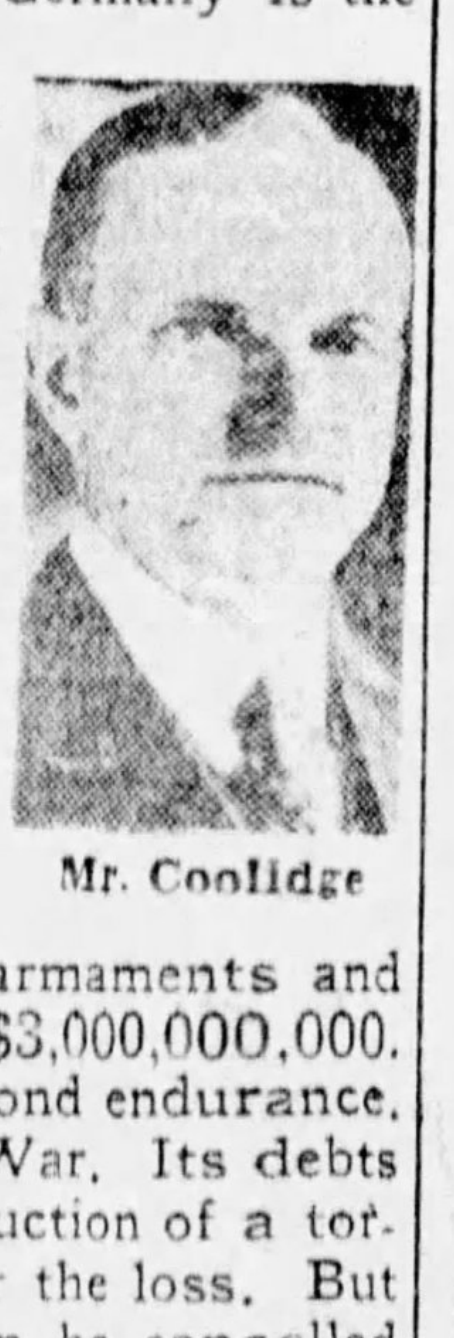
Cancellation of Next War Urged by Coolidge

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 29.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Whatever else may be involved, two lessons seem obvious from the present condition of ourselves and the rest of the world. The immediate crisis has arisen from trying to make a good many governments, of which Germany is the particular example, assume larger financial burdens than their people can bear. The result was general economic disturbance.



Mr. Coolidge

We have escaped temporarily by huge borrowings. But we shall have to pay. In 1927 we had reduced expenses, excluding debt and postoffice, below $3,000,000,000. Since then they have steadily increased without adequate provision for a time of depression. We did not sufficiently apply the principle of government economy. The need of all the nations is drastic reduction of public expenses.

The other evident lesson is the necessity for peace. War ruins all participants, victors and vanquished alike. Our cost of armaments and past wars during the last year was nearly $3,000,000,000. Other nations find themselves burdened beyond endurance. Back of all these difficulties lies the World War. Its debts cannot be cancelled any more than the destruction of a tornado can be cancelled. Some one must bear the loss. But the next war and increased armaments can be cancelled forthwith. That is possible.

200 DEAD AS JUNE HEAT WAVE BREAKS ALL RECORDS

MIDWEST GRAIN CROPS SUFFER HEAVY LOSS

International News Service.

The entire United States, with the exception of a few of the Pacific Coast states, sweltered today under the week-old heat wave. All-time temperature records for June were broken and an unusually severe humidity added to the suffering of thousands.

Shade, cool drinks, slight breezes and predictions of rain gave the blistering populace little solace as the hottest June weather in history grew hotter and hotter.

200 ALREADY DEAD

From the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard, and from a short distance below the Canadian border to the Gulf, the heat bore down with merciless impartiality. There was scant hope of relief before Tuesday.

Upwards of 200 have died during the current wave. Cattle were reported dying in the fields of Iowa, Illinois and other middle western states, which are bearing the brunt of the soaring temperatures.

The crops there were suffering what agricultural experts termed an "irreparable damage."

RELIEF IN EAST

Ten deaths by drowning and two from the intense heat were recorded in and near New York. The mercury reached only 82 on Sunday but a high humidity sent hundreds of thousands to the beaches.

In Chicago, it was officially 98 degrees although two government stations reported 100.2 and 104 degrees. The all-time June record of 99 degrees set 18 years ago was scheduled to be surpassed today.

Mrs. Smith was twice married and divorced from Morton McMichael Hoyt. Her next marriage was to Wilfred Lawson Butt, a Nevada University football star, but this was annulled when it was found the divorce between Butt and his first wife had not become final. Her third husband was Howard Lee, a Texas aviator, but this marriage was dissolved when she complained he had misrepresented himself as being rich.

SPAIN CHOOSES REPUBLIC IN ELECTIONS

Chance of King's Return Dim; Franco Wins, Zamora Loses in Disorderly Poll

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA

International News Service.

MADRID, June 29.—A federal republic for Spain, like that of the United States, was indicated today on the basis of incomplete returns from yesterday's national election, the first held in a decade.

While moderate Republicans and Socialists, who favor a centralized republic like France's, appeared to have won a majority in the Cortes, which will decide the form of the new government, the Regionalists swept the provinces of Catalonia and Andalucia. Complete returns will not be known until Tuesday.

KING'S CHANCE REMOTE

The possibility of King Alfonso XIII regaining his throne seemed remote today. Only one prominent defender of the Bourbons, Count de Romanones, Alfonso's old minister of finance, had been reported elected to the Cortes.

Although a democracy for only a few months, romantic Spain went to the polls with much zeal. Rival voters broke each others' heads. At least a half dozen were killed.

Provisional President Niceto Alcala Zamora, who assumed power after the withdrawal of King Alfonso from the country, was reported to have been defeated for a seat in the Cortes.

MAJ. FRANCO VICTOR

In Catalonia Col. Francisco Macia's Regionalists won over Francisco Cambo's Conservatives. Maj. Ramon Franco, famous trans-Atlantic flier and fiery extremist, running on Macia's ticket, carried the southern province of Andalucia.

In Madrid, Jose Sanchez Guerra, noted Monarchist leader who opposed King Alfonso, was elected. The son of Vicente Blasco Ibanez, late Republican novelist, who was exiled from Spain by Alfonso, was elected in Valencia.

CANCEL PARADE AT WILDWOOD

to disperse gatherings at these points he said.

The marchers, according to announcement, had planned to gather at Ambridge, McKeesport, New Kensington, Coverdale, McKees Rocks, Carnegie and Center avenue, Pittsburgh. Separate marches were scheduled to West Park, from which point they have been given a permit to parade across the Manchester Bridge to Duquesne way and back across the Sixth Avenue Bridge to the North Side.

Officials of the National Miners' Union said they thought the permit gave them the right to parade to the assembly point.

The miner who was hurt was trampled and those arrested included a woman. The arrests were made a dawn today when a force of deputies and borough police dispersed a march of striking miners at Ellsworth near the Bethel mines with tear gas.

The miners came in three groups into Ellsworth in defiance of the ban of the Burgess. Heading a force of 22 deputy sheriffs and 25 borough officers, Supt. O. R. Check met two of the parade units as they entered the town and forbade them to march. They dispersed without trouble.

ATTACK TRUCKS

Meanwhile, three truck loads of miners from Charleroi formed a line in front of the Ellsworth Hotel. Refusing to disperse, tear gas bombs were hurled in their midst as the combined police forces broke the parade line.

George Kline, 45, a miner, of Meadow avenue, Charleroi, was trampled when the dispersing marchers rushed to their trucks. His wife, Mrs. Annie Kline, was arrested, charged with violating a borough ordinance and inciting to riot.

Others arrested were Frank Fontenvsi, 18; Tech Sacani, 18, and Flori Cervi, 38, all of Charleroi.

They are being held for hearings before Justice of the Peace H. C. Lloyd, of Ellsworth.

State police, adhering to Gov. Pinchot's decision not to interfere with peaceful parades on public highways, refused to aid borough police in dispensing the march.

Corp. Joseph Seintilli, of Troop B, state police, from Wyoming, was in charge of 22 men scattered throughout the town. They were held in readiness for a possible riot.

Two additional details of State Police have been established in Allegheny County, at Montour No. 10 mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation at Coverdale. This move was made to have the force in closer contact with the expected center of activities.

ARNO DIVORCE UP TODAY

RENO, Nev., June 29.—(INS.)—With more than 80 cases scheduled for hearing today, the divorce suit of Peter Arno, New York satirical artist, against his writer-wife, Lois Long, holds chief interest.

The Arno divorce hearing is on the calendar for the court of Superior Judge Thomas F. Moran behind closed doors, indicating that it will be a 10-minute decree, with the probability that Mrs. Arno will secure the decree on her cross-complaint.

Although attorneys for Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and his pretty blue-eyed wife, Mary Weir Logan Vanderbilt, had held no conference concerning a property agreement between the couple, there was a possibility that the Vanderbilts might appear in court today some time, as their case could be filed during the morning for hearing during the day, both having been residents of Nevada for several years.

PINCHOT CLEARS ALL BILLS

HARRISBURG, June 29.—(INS.)—The one hundred twenty-ninth session of the Pennsylvania Legislature today was officially closed and its actions became a matter for the record books. With disposal of all bills before him, Gov. Gifford Pinchot brought to an end the active functioning of the Assembly.

Survey of the session today showed 695 bills passed by the Legislature, 13 of them being resolutions for constitutional amendments. Of the 682 bills sent to his desk, the Governor approved 426 and vetoed 265. The resolutions for amendments to the constitution need no action by the Governor.

Five hundred and four bills, it was shown, were acted upon by the executive since the Assembly adjourned. The Governor wound up consideration of the measures Saturday, approximately 10 hours before the 30-day period allowed by law for gubernatorial action expired.

BOROUGH, STATE POLICE, DEPUTIES ON GUARD AT ELLSWORTH AFTER BATTLE TODAY

YOUTH TRAPPED 22 HOURS IN WELL UNHURT

Cave-in Victim Scorns Aid In Walking After Long Fight to Free Him Wins

OTTAWA, Ill., June 29.—(AP.)—Conscious and smiling, Howard Smith, 16, was rescued uninjured yesterday from a caved-in well in which he was imprisoned 22 hours. He was trapped Saturday while repairing a pump on a farm owned by his grandfather.

Smith was brought to the surface by a rope passed to him by W. Spencer Kellogg, of Seneca, Ill., after a state mine rescue crew and volunteers had dug a lateral to him, only to find they had to abandon efforts to enlarge the hole because of the dangerous position of rocks. They set up a framework around him, passed him food and then went to the surface to begin digging out the well itself.

BROTHER AIDS WORK

Much of the rescue work was done by Howard's 20-year-old brother, Floyd. He pushed away a large boulder pressing against his brother's side after several other rescuers had failed to move it. Howard complained of tenderness in his shoulder due to the pressure of a boulder, but physicians failed to find any mark and said he had withstood the ordeal remarkably well. He was put to bed to ward off possibility of pneumonia.

As his head came above the surface he asked:

"Where's Ma?"

At the time his mother, Mrs. Edith Smith, was under a doctor's care, having collapsed Saturday when the seriousness of her son's plight became apparent.

THANKS RESCUERS

Members of the rescue party offered to carry him to an automobile, but he refused, asserting he did not want anyone to think he was hurt. He walked to the car, climbed onto the running board and thanked those who had saved him.

While the rescue work was in progress the boy joked with members of his family and friends through a garden hose his uncle had passed down to him before the cave-in became complete. Told the lateral tunnel had failed of its purpose, he said:

"Maybe you'd better shoot me and then start digging."

HAYS ANSWERS CHURCHMEN ON FILM ATTACK

Replies to Federal Council Group, Charging Demand For Share in Receipts

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Controversy between the Federal Council of Churches of Christ and the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors, Inc., broke out anew today with the publication by the council of a report on the motion picture industry.

Commendation was given by the investigators to the picture producers on many improvements, but it was declared the character of current films is unsatisfactory to Protestant churches.

The Producers' Corporation was criticized specially for paying "honoraria" for addresses, traveling and other expenses to persons who have been connected with the council. In all, the report said, 52 persons have received "honoraria" in that manner.

Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors, Inc., responded immediately, sending a letter to Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the council. He charged the council's investigators maintained complete silence in the report regarding a demand from the Rev. George Reid Andrews, when chairman of the Federal Council Committee on religious drama and executive secretary of the Church and Drama Association, for 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the film "The King of Kings." Hays added:

"From the day that he was finally made to realize that the industry would not accede to this and subsequent demands for contributions, the Rev. George Reid Andrews has conducted a campaign of statements and charges against the organized motion picture industry."

Mr. Andrews sent out a statement answering the charges of Hays, saying:

"Hays double-crossed us and defeated our plan to make it and its revenue serve the churches. Let him deny this. Let them tell the story of the 'King of Kings.' They dare not."

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—(AP.)—Working in the world of tomorrow, some of America's most prominent surgeons convened here today to exchange ideas for the betterment of the human race.

Dr. William James Mayo, Rochester, Minn., gave the keynote of the American Surgical Association in an interview with newspapermen. He said:

"To the doctor the only thing that is important is tomorrow and what it may bring to the little sum of knowledge we have. Constantly, we are like men peering through a half open door, tantalized by what we can almost see. There is so much to learn and so little time to learn it."

Exchange of ideas and explanation of research work on cancer, plastic surgery, skin grafting and other phases of the profession will feature the convention topics.

OFFICER GIVES BLOOD TO SLAIN PAL'S SON

Patrolman Walter Fletcher, 28, of 132 Washington place, walked home at dawn today, tired and somewhat weak from a night on his beat in the Oakland section, and the additional strain of a visit to the Homeopathic Hospital, where he submitted to a blood transfusion to save the life of a son of a dead buddy.

Edward Rahe, of 5710 Baum boulevard, 5-year-old son of Motorcycle Policeman A. E. Rahe, killed a year ago, was reported showing signs of improvement at the hospital today, after he had been given a pint and a half of Patrolman Fletcher's blood. The transfusion occurred at midnight. The boy had both legs crushed Saturday by an elevator in a vacant garage building in which he and another boy were playing.

When physicians notified police a blood transfusion was necessary, they received a quick response. Within 15 minutes after the first appeal had been made over radio, a dozen volunteers responded. At the hospital Patrolman Fletcher was selected.

While the transfusion was in progress, the boy's mother and grandmother sat in the next room. Phyisicians believe the transfusion will save the child's life, but they say it will be necessary to amputate his legs.

THOMAS FAVORS LOAN ON LINES HEARST URGES

Socialist Leader Declares $5,000,000,000 Financing For Job Relief Necessary

Universal Service.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., June 29.—A $5,000,000,000 loan to finance federal unemployment relief was urged by Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, in an address last night before the League for Industrial Democracy in session at Camp Tamiment, near here.

Stressing federal aid along the lines urged by William Randolph Hearst in his recent proposal for a $5,000,000,000 loan to be expended on governmental projects, Thomas, former candidate for President on the Socialist ticket, was the final speaker of a four-day conference of the league. He said:

"The number of failures and the decline in prices during the past 18 months point to an inevitable clash between the creditors and debtors similar to that of the early 90's.

"The real wealth and power in this country still belong to the people, who own the vital resources of the country, and any system of planning must take into account that of money, banking and credits as a vital part of the program, if the country is to recover from its present slump."

white, they would not have been punished. It would seem desirable to clear up that point.

THE PARADE in Harlem, N. Y., emphasized the turning against religion that has recently been conspicuous in many places, Mexico, Spain, Italy, and lately in the state of Vera Cruz, where a new law restricts the number of priests to 10, or only one for 100,000 population.

THE OLD-FASHIONED signs in the parade read "Smash the Legal Lynching" and "Death to Lynchers."

A new kind of sign read, "Defend the Soviet Union," although it is not clear what the Soviet Union has to do with the execution of eight Alabama Negroes. And another sign, evidently inspired by agnosticism, read:

"Work and pray, live on hay, you'll eat pie in the sky, when you die."

The general public does not know how important a part the United States Treasury plays in discouraging the higher-up criminals. The latter are financiers on a big scale, and make huge profits, in some cases millions a year for single individuals.

The income tax department traces the huge winnings, wants to know why no report has been made, and no tax paid, collects one-half of the money and sends the criminal financiers to jail.

The Treasury Department has broken up the worst of Chicago's gangs and has the most dangerous ringleaders on their way to jail, something that Chicago's police could not do, for reasons NOT mysterious.

BANDIT SOUGHT; FIANCEE SHOT

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 29.—(AP.)—Police sought a youthful gunman with orders to shoot on sight today while his 15-year-old girl sweetheart lay in a hospital with a police bullet in the base of her skull, the aftermath of a holdup and theft of an automobile by the youth early Sunday.

George Daoust, 19, is the object of the police search. He held up William Nobak and stole his automobile. When Nobak later saw Daoust, another man and a girl riding in his car, he commandeered a taxicab, picked up a policeman and pursued them. The trail was lost after shots had been exchanged.

The Nobak car was later found wrecked eight miles northeast of here. The girl, Gerta Strobel, 15, was lying in the wreckage. Taken to a local hospital, she told police she had taken her father's revolver and given it to Daoust for the holdup. She said the men decided to leave her after the crash, although she pleaded to be taken to a hospital.

Man Feared Dead In Hunt for Mine

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 29.—(INS.)—Belief has been expressed that A. Ruth, 65, Washington, D. C., a retired government employe, lost in the Superstition Mountains two weeks ago while seeking the "Lost Dutchman" gold mine of fabled wealth, had perished from thirst.

Deputy sheriffs, forest rangers and other searchers scoured the mountains into which Ruth had prospected and found no trace of him.

NIAGARA DEATH SEEN AS PLOT

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 29.—(AP.)—An unidentified man, believed by authorities to be a smuggler of liquor or of aliens, perished over the Horse Shoe falls yesterday when his disabled motorboat was caught in the swift current above the cataract. He disappeared from sight just as firemen arrived with ladders and ropes to attempt a rescue.

Below the falls, near the wrecked boat was found a piece of an oar. It apparently had been cut part way through with a saw. Investigators said the man may have been a victim of revenge by a rival runner.

Onlookers saw the man rise in his boat, wave his arms and disappear over the cataract, about 500 feet from shore.

Pastor Says Dry Law Can't Be Enforced

ATLANTA, June 29.—(AP.)—Mayor James L. Key's statement in France that prohibition is a failure reverberated again here today with a Congregational minister agreeing fully with the mayor while a group of nationally known dry leaders assembled for a meeting tonight in defense of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Dr. D. Witherspoon Dodge, of the Central Congregational Church, added his bit to the controversy by stating from his pulpit:

"Prohibition has not been enforced, it will not be enforced, and it cannot be enforced."

U. S. DEFICIT $900,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(INS.)—Uncle Sam will take a net loss of close to $900,000,000 the year ending June 30 as the result of the depression and stock market crash.

Treasury figures today indicated that total receipts for the fiscal year will be approximately $3,307,000,000, a loss of more than $850,000,000 from last year from the collections during 1930.

Barring any unexpected expenditures governmental costs will approximate $4,177,000,000, an increase of $183,000,000 over the year before. Expenditures a few months ago were estimated by President Hoover at $4,435,000,000, which would have put the deficit at beyond a billion dollars, although it now appears that somewhat less than $900,000,000 would be the figure.

VETERAN STEEL MAN RETIRES

Robert McMillan, of Bennett street, for 31 years general purchasing agent of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, will retire tomorrow after 45 years in the steel industry in this district. He will spend some time in Canada, but will continue his residence in Pittsburgh.

McMillan started his business career in 1886 as assistant purchasing agent for the Frick Coke Company, when the firm's office force numbered but 10. After 10 years in that position he accepted a similar post with the American Steel and Wire Company. He was born in Stuartstown, Armstrong County, 77 years ago.

MT. LEBANON STREET JOB UP

An ordinance providing for an extension of Rae avenue will come up for the third and final reading at a meeting of Mt. Lebanon Township commissioners tonight. The street, in the old Country Club plan, is a means of travel to Washington road, principal thoroughfare of the borough.

Since the plan was laid out Rae avenue has been a blind street ending in a lot occupied by a house facing Coolidge avenue. Passage of the ordinance would mean the condemnation of the home of Anthony Petrilli, in Coolidge avenue. Officials estimate that opening up of the avenue would affect between 700 and 1,000 residents.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

THAT THEY FALL hardest when they're wisest is something that is known to every schoolboy from Passaic to Walla Walla. The man who thinks he can't be gyped is generally the easiest kind of a mark for a clever crook. And the little lady who knows she has nothing to learn invariably ends up by ruefully singing that old ballad, "There comes a time in every woman's life when some man needs $500."

The finest illustrations of fools who think they're wise are to be found without end along Broadway. The fellow who wouldn't give a blind man a dime because he's sure it's a fake, will rush to a telegraph office 10 minutes later and wire a racing tipster $10 for "inside information."

The man who will scrutinize a dinner check and argue with the waiter for a nickel "on the principle of the thing" will walk into a ticket speculator's shop after the meal and pay $10 for a $4.40 ticket. The woman who talks the corner grocer into giving her that head of lettuce for 3 cents less than he asked will jump at the chance to pay almost anything for a piece of antique French furniture that had its origin in New Jersey a week before the purchase.

All of which leads up to today's story. And one that is, I think, a perfect example of what I'm getting at . . .

About a month or so ago a wealthy president of a manufacturing concern out West came to New York for a short visit. He was—and still is—a happy married man with two children. He engaged a suite at a mid-town hotel and commenced to transact some necessary business. For the sake of his future happiness we will call him merely Mr. J.

Mr. J. was a wise guy. There could be no mistake about that fact, because he admitted it himself.

Mr. J. likes his liquor. Always has, as a matter of fact. And it wasn't long before he began to inquire about for a quiet little establishment off the beaten track where he might hold a cocktail in one hand and write figures on the tablecloth with the other. Perfectly harmless, of course.

An acquaintance recommended one to him. A nice little place in the upper forties. Piano. Curtains. Shaded light. A very striking blonde was the manageress and there were always two or three other ladies present. The liquor was good and Mr. J. enjoyed his visit. So he went again and again—but always with another man. Mr. J. was too wise.

About a week ago, of an afternoon, Mr. J. decided to visit his pleasant little rendezvous. As usual, a friend came along. They sat there for an hour or two, had two or three cocktails each and discussed business. Suddenly the friend remembered an important telephone call. Informed that there was no phone in that house, he was advised to walk to the corner drug store. Which he did.

"Your bill," she said sweetly, "is $2,000."

Mr. J. literally fell from his chair. He smiled wanly and begged her to stop joking. But her next words were far from funny.

"Listen," she said, "we know all about you. We know you're married. We know the town you live in out west. We know your social connections. You owe us $2,000. Are you going to pay?"

Mr. J. by this time was decidedly uncomfortable. But he still had a plan in mind. He was, you see, a wise guy.

"Of course I'll pay," he exclaimed. "But I'm sort of short on cash. Would you . . ."

Her smile faded. Bending down, she put her face close to his.

"Listen, sap," she continued. "Maybe you think you're putting something over on some one by telling me you haven't any cash. Well, I'll tell you something. We expect you to pay this bill. We'll take your check. And if you try to stop payment tomorrow, these girls are all ready to testify against you.

"We'll get you into court on a complaint that will make front page stuff. You won't be able to beat the case and you'll never be able to live it down. I don't have to tell you how people in small towns—or big towns for that matter—love to gossip.

"So if you'll take this baby's advice, you'll come across and keep your trap shut."

What would you do in a case of that sort? What would any one do under similar circumstances? That's exactly what Mr. J. did. He made out his check and with a sickly grin handed it to the blonde manageress.

As he was about to leave the apartment a burly man stepped from out of nowhere and added insult to injury by relieving the manufacturer of his cuff buttons, a diamond ring and all his loose cash.

The following morning when Mr. J.'s check was presented at the bank, it was cashed immediately. He did not attempt to stop payment.

He was a wise guy, you see, who was bluffed by some one just a trifle wiser . . .

Accuse Ex-Convict Of Forging Name Of Warden

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 29.—(AP.)—Lee Magers, 33, Moundsville, released from the state penitentiary on parole six weeks ago, after serving two years of a five-year sentence for forgery, was held in the county jail here tonight facing a new forgery charge.

Magers, police said, attempted to cash a $90 check which not only bore a bogus signature, but also the forged indorsement of Warden A. C. Scroggins, of the prison in which the suspect was recently incarcerated.

Officials at the bank at which Magers presented the check noticed the irregularities and caught him when he fled.

TAXI PROBLEMS TO BE STUDIED

The relationship of taxicab competition to cruising and other taxicab problems is to be discussed by the Better Traffic Committee's traffic flow section with representatives of the Highland Taxicab Company tomorrow at noon in the Chamber of Commerce, according to H. B. Kirkpatrick, section chairman.

The meeting was arranged at the request of Attorney Charles B. Prichard, counsel for the new cab company. The Highland Taxicab Company's petition for a certificate of public convenience has been filed with the Public Service Commission and a hearing is to be held on it July 8.

Previous applications by new taxicab companies have been protested by the Better Traffic Committee because of the extent of congestion caused in the downtown business section by cab cruising and abuses of loading zone privileges.

CURE FOR TIMES -:- Comedian Steps Out With New Five-Year Plan. -:- AMUSEMENTS -:- Notes and Comment About Theater Happenings

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, June 29.

If hard times continue, there is always Eddie Cantor's five-year plan of reconstruction.

"It's very simple," says Eddie. "Let people buy everything they need for five years without paying. At the end of that time everybody moves. If you move far enough, they can't find you, and by that time nobody will care anyway.

"I've also got a cure for unemployment. Just think! In baseball nowadays we have nine men on a side. I say let's have 40 men on a side and 12 umpires.

"In prize fighting we find only two men in the ring with a single referee. What kind of employment is this? Let's have six in the ring and three referees. Furthermore, there should be six members in every quartet and four in every solo. It's an idea."

Lilyan Tashman

In the meanwhile Eddie thinks he may retire and let his daughters support him. "My oldest daughter, Marjorie, is just graduating from high school," says the comedian. "She was a guest dramatic editor on a Hollywood paper for a week. They offered her a job for the summer at $10 a week as a columnist. The salary of columnists must be going up."

That's an idea, too. But it doesn't seem to be gaining much headway.

ROAD'S GETTING ROUGH

At the present rate, Paramount's "Road to Reno" will establish a record for cast changes. Carmel Barnes, who seems fated never to make a picture, was the first name dropped. Peggy Shannon replaced her. Now Marjorie Rambeau is being borrowed from M. G. M. to take the part intended for Lilyan Tashman. It's a fine mixup.

LATEST GOSSIP

Child movie fans don't get such a break. Other kids are enjoying vacation. They have to go to school a half day all year. Then there's the minor tragedy of Mitzi Green's spelling lesson. She got marked down for leaving the H out of hemorrhage . . . This hot weather finds many film people heading for Honolulu. Norma Talmadge sailed Saturday . . . Cecil B. De Mille writes with satisfaction that the East got excited about his denunciation of mass production. "The producers seem 100 per cent against me and the public 100 per cent for me," he says . . . Incidentally, the director will not be back here until November, at least. And he may go around the world . . . Mrs. Ernest Shoedsack will accompany her husband to India to film scenes for "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer." These foreign locations will be what we call "transparencies;" that is, the action will be duped in later in Hollywood. Paramount did the same thing successfully in "Four Feathers." . . . Sally Eilers and Hoot Gibson celebrate their first anniversary today. And Sally's 20-year-old brother, Bud, is working in her present picture. He's an art student . . . Carlo Schipa, brother of Tito, is to be in Universal's "Strictly Dishonorable."

Hoot Gibson

Thanks to the lull at Warners, M. G. M. is able to secure Joan Blondell to play one of the two feminine leads in Jack Gilbert's new picture, "West of Broadway."

JOAN BLONDELL LOANED

In this story, Jack plays a young man who is told he has only a short time to live. When his sweetheart throws him over, he takes to drink and goes through a spite marriage with a party girl. Joan plays the party girl.

Colleen Moore is up for the other role.

Teddy Joyce will return to the Penn Friday and that theater is to stage "A Home Coming Week" show in his honor.

Big Grin

Foe of Talkies Is Wind

One of the greatest foes of outdoor talking picture production is the wind.

Its whistling is plain in the microphone, whether it be a gentle zephyr or a roaring gale. In ordinary exterior scenes where the noise of the wind is not noticed by the actual spectator on the ground, it should not be heard in sound reproductions. "Tuning out" the wind is one of the sound recorder's greatest tasks.

When Paramount's troupe filming "Confessions of a Co-Ed," returned from Lake Tahoe, Truckee and Soda Springs as the last cold spell of winter began to break, they had little complaint to make against the wind.

Why? Because when tuned to the proper volume, eliminating an occasional roar, it gave to the scenes exactly the bleak wintry effect wanted. It heightened the effect of snow scenery with the addition of the wintry sounds.

Sound engineers need worry none about the task of recording wind noises for storm scenes. Almost any wind may be "stepped up" to the volume of a hurricane if desired.

Film Shrieks Her Job

She is Lillian Worth, who does the screaming in a scene of "Women Love Once," which shows little Marilyn Knowlden, aged 4, struck down by an automobile while chasing Paul Lukas and Eleanor Boardman.

Miss Worth has been doing expert screaming, schieking and howling in talking pictures during the past year. Her voice is so strong that she has to stand 50 feet from the microphone when she unleashes her lung capacity.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Traveling in array partaking of something of the magnitude of a circus, Florenz Ziegfeld and his "Follies of 1931" departed early Sunday morning via the Pennsylvania, for New York, where the big revue will open in the Ziegfeld Theater Wednesday night. The great girl show moved out in two trains, the first a special of 10 cars, later augmented by the addition of a diner at Altoona. This train carried the administrative personnel, players, authors and composers. A second train transported the baggage, scenery, electrical equipment and stage crew.

* * *

Small Timer says that in any question between himself and wife she's always willing to admit it has two sides, but neither of them ever is his side.

* * *

Teddy Joyce is coming back to the Penn Friday to master a few more ceremonies in that house, where Teddy reigned as king of the stage for months and months on two different occasions, and where he has since visited as strolling major domo. No more popular entertainer than Teddy ever stepped on the Penn stage. The more he tried to divert some of the audience's appreciation to some member of the company he was introducing, the more it seemed to center on himself. They shone only in his reflection.

* * *

Small Timer says his car is a six as to cylinders, a four as to power, an eight as to gas consumption, a 20 as to speed, 100 as to creaks and a 1,000 as to vibrations, but is no great shakes of a car at that.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

(But which you knew all along!)

That the time-worn vaudeville gag which goes: "We've only had one fight in all the years we've been together; it started when we met, and it's still going on!" was first said by George Sand about Chopin.

That "Yankee Doodle" was written during the Revolution by a British officer in derision of American soldiery.

That Oscar Hammerstein, the First, wrote a complete opera within 24 hours, which was performed.

That in the torrid weather a hot shower followed by a hot drink will immediately cool you off.

That the term "sucker," now tagged on to saps who give all, was originally applied to spongers who took it all.

That, although the 10-cents-a-dance gals average about 80 dances a night, some of them give private lessons in the afternoon.

That low blood pressure is worse than high blood pressure.

That among ironies is the fact that Manhattan soil is one of the most fertile of soils in the U. S. for growing purposes.

That when you ask for a cup of Java on Broadway you get coffee. When you ask for a cup of Java on that island you get rice.

That Reikjavik, Iceland, has the same Winter weather as New York.

That 25,000,000 clay pigeons are used yearly in the U. S., but the inventor, Fred Kimble, never got a penny for the idea.

That George Washington paid his soldiers one dollar for each Indian scalp brought in. (A bit of a meanie, wot?)

That leatherette book covers are made of paper and cloth.

That John Golden, one of the better showmen, was once a bricklayer. He helped brick the S. W. corner of 23d and 8th.

That the famous feud between Hamilton and Burr was fought over a gal named Jumel. (You see there's really nothing new).

That Paul Revere never got to Concord. A guy named Dawes (Ambassador Dawes' great-grandpappy) did the trick.

That in certain tribes in Africa when twins are born they are segregated until the age of 6. Natives believe them evil omens.

That Helsingfors, the capital of Finland, is now Helsinki.

That there are only eight real Siamese in the U. S. They are not allowed to do any commercial work, especially anything connected with the theater. Unless the King permits—and he never has, they say.

That the Statue of Liberty is located on an old prison.

That robins can hear worms in the ground, and that is how they catch them, you sillies.

That cigarette ashes take alky rings out of table tops.

That by law, the Queen of England is entitled to the tail of every captured whale caught in English waters. (Of all things).

That during the month of August approximately 13,000,000, more or less, meteors, commonly called shooting stars, fall toward the earth daily. (Look out below! And thank Retlaw Chellwin).

That 4 auto tires consume the annual output of 8 rubber trees.

That an ordinary art-eraser will clean your white sport shoes.

That if the process server doesn't hand you exactly $1.50 in cash, when you are subpenaed as a witness, you do not have to appear, and cannot be held in contempt of court.

That there are more notes in a violin than in a piano.

That in Haiti the host thanks the guest instead of the guest thanking the host as the well-mannered do here.

That you shouldn't be so proud of the "jewels" in your watch, because they only cost a penny each.

BRITAIN AGAIN LIFTS BARS TO DOPE FLOOD

By WINIFRED BLACK

GENEVA, June 29.—Great Britan turned the clock back in the fight against narcotics at the League of Nations international narcotics conference.

Great Britain introduced an amendment to the Franco-Japanese proposal that at first seemed to mean nothing, but which, after it was voted on, turned out to mean that manufacturers can make any estimate of their legitimate drug needs they want and go ahead and make the drug according to their own idea. If by this strange and loose method there is a surplus of dope in their factory, they should worry.

BRITISH 'TRICK'

Some of the conference delegates who are in police service in their different countries seem to think that the police will have to do a good deal of worrying under this strange idea which was adopted under the hypnotic spell of Sir Malcolm Delevingne, the British delegate. Sir Malcolm is kindly helping the Japanese, French, Germans and Americans finish the draft of the Franco-Japanese agreement which he has been fighting bitterly for the past four weeks.

Can it be possible that Britain would play a clever little trick like that on the American delegation?

Turkey threw a dynamite bomb into the conference by introducing an amendment which demands that all narcotics seized in the underground traffic anywhere in the world are to be immediately destroyed by government authorities of the country in which they are seized.

DOPE PLANTS CLOSED

This amendment comes on the heels of the news that Turkey has just closed three French factories that have been turning out dangerous narcotics in Turkey.

These factories make morphine, smoking opium, codeine and heroin. The trade in codein and heroin is the best of all. Heroin is used very little in legitimate medicine, in fact some countries, including America, do not permit heroin at all. But, it is a great drug for the peddlers and their poor addict slaves.

Codeine is a delightful little drug—for the factories. You can send codeine from one end of the earth to the other and not one hand will be held up to stop you.

In most countries, you have to have a prescription to get one dose of codein, but you can buy it by the pound or by the ton without a particle of trouble. When you have bought it, you can turn it into the deadly morphine.

17,902 Phila. Homes Sold by Sheriff

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—(AP.)—Four per cent of the city's dwellings were sold in sheriff's sales last year, the report of the Philadelphia Housing Association discloses. Properties totaling 17,902 were sold.

The report assailed persons responsible for building during the past five years as failing to construct dwellings within price range of Philadelphia citizens. If conditions do not change, the report added, government subsidizing of property may occur.

Two Injured When Truck Hits Buggy

ERIE, Pa., June 29.—(AP.)—G. H. McClerry, 72, Conneaut, suffered a fractured skull, and his grandson, Roland McClerry, was less seriously injured when a truck attempted to pass their horse and buggy near the Ohio state line yesterday. Albert Guy, Salem, O., driver of the truck, police reports indicated, lost control of the machine and hit the horse and buggy.

U. S. VET LOANS IN 4 MONTHS $793,421,603

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Uncle Sam loaned a total of $793,421,603 to war veterans on their adjusted compensation certificates during the first four months the law was in effect, it was announced today.

The enormous task imposed upon the Veterans Bureau by new legislation was outlined by Director George E. Ijams, who retires on July 1 to become assistant administrator of veterans' affairs.

Ijams said 2,070,162 veterans applied for loans on their certificates, of which 2,064,500 have been paid. The outstanding total of loans on June 20, including those made under the old law, was $1,145,432,753.

In addition to the loan law, the bureau also was swamped with applications for disability allowances under the act passed by Congress a year ago. Ijams said:

"In the short space of 11 months the bureau has received and is currently handling approximately 50 per cent as many claims for disability allowances as have been received for disability compensation in almost 14 years."

Ijams said the government's relief activities for the veterans are increasing at a rapid rate. He pointed out that the number of hospital cases and veterans needing medical attention are growing each year, adding:

"At this time the bureau is caring for approximately 35,000 veterans in hospitals."

DEPUTY AWAITS SECOND TRIAL

ARDMORE, Okla., June 29.—(AP.)—Freed by a jury Saturday of legal guilt in the fatal shooting of Emilio Cortes Rubio, kinsman of the President of Mexico, William E. Guess, former Carter County deputy sheriff, today was to hear whether he is to be tried later for the slaying of Rubio's companion, Manuel Garcia Gomez.

Also awaiting the decision of prosecutors was another former deputy sheriff, Cecil Crosby, who was with Guess the night of June 7, when Rubio and Gomez were killed on a quiet Ardmore street while passing through by motor car en route home from American colleges.

Guess still faces a charge of murder for the shooting of Gomez, while Crosby, who fired no shots, is charged with murder also in connection with each case.

SOUTHERN M. E. BISHOP DIES

RICHMOND, Va., June 29.—(AP.)—Bishop William Benjamin Beauchamp, 62, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died at Stuart Circle Hospital last night. Bishop Beauchamp was widely known for his work as foreign ambassador and missionary diplomat of his denomination.

Three weeks ago Bishop Beauchamp was taken to the hospital suffering from pernicious anemia, from which he failed to rally.

He was head of the centenary campaign of the church, which he carried through to success by raising $35,000,000 for world-wide mission causes. Later, upon his elevation to the episcopacy in 1922 he was placed in charge of European missions. In 1926 he was chosen president of the World Brotherhood, an international organization of Christian laymen.

He is survived by eight children.

Immigration Cut 92 Per Cent by Hoover

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(INS.)—Effectiveness of the immigration restrictions imposed by President Hoover to help relieve unemployment was emphasized by the State Department in announcing a 92 per cent reduction in the number of quota visas granted by American consuls during the last 11 months.

On the basis of the figures, the department estimated 140,000 aliens will have been refused entry during the fiscal year that ends Tuesday.

Wounded in Escape Attempt, Man Dies

FARRELL, Pa., June 29.—Alfonso James, 27, Negro, died in Buhl Hospital Sunday from a bullet wound in the back, sustained when he was shot while trying to escape from Patrolman Frank Kowalski after he had knocked the officer down.

The officer saw James and two companions near Louis Gottlieb's store and captured James. While on the way to jail Kowalski was knocked down by James, who then fled and was shot.

Bandits Steal $10,000 Gems in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 29.—(INS.)—Two armed bandits robbed the Robert Gail, Inc., jewelry store of diamonds valued at $10,000, bound three employes with wire and escaped in an automobile in the thick of traffic.

The jewelry store, on Hollywood boulevard, was passed by hundreds of pedestrians and motorists while the robbery was enacted, but no one observed the bandits as they worked.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Loyal Girl Will Stand by Boy Friend in Hard Times

Should he give up his girl because he has lost his job? And doesn't know when he'll ever get another one?

Ken thought he should. And scores of other luckless lads joined him in his dose of blues. But Harry gives them all the ha ha. Like spunk? Then listen:

"Dear Sally:

"I just read Ken's wail about Hard Times and I want to tell him a thing or two, if you'll give me a little space. I know that times are not so hot right now—but anyhow, here is one guy who still has his spunk up in spite of the depression.

ENTERTAINED SELVES

"I have been out of work for over a year now, and I never did save my money much, either. I had too much fun spending it. But old man depression has his good points too. He has taught me that when I do make good money again, I'll save some of it, at least.

"I had the same notion Ken had about giving my girl up when the blow fell. But, believe me, that little girl taught me a few things. You know the outlook is not so good when you find it difficult to take your 'sweetie' out, and I felt pretty badly about it. She enjoys going places as all girls do. So, poor, despondent me confesses my financial rating.

"Did I get the gate? I did not! She immediately made it plain that we could entertain ourselves. And she made plans to do so, plans for taking advantage of the many possibilities life has to offer just for the taking, such as hiking, fishing, visiting friends, playing bridge, going to points of interest around town, and just talking.

"Of course, the old inferiority complex hit me hard at first. I felt cheap, an utter failure . . . just like Ken, I guess. Well, with her help, I soon got over that notion, and we do have fun.

DETERMINATION

"She has even inspired me to go to school, and she plans to be the wife of one of the city's leading building contractors some day.

"She certainly has ambition. She has 'bought all my stock on margin,' and boy! I'm telling the world that the business of me is going to be a paying business, or I'll know the reason why! She may have bought me out low, but, believe me, I am going to pay big dividends some day so that she'll never 'sell out!'

"Do you wonder—'why all this self-confidence?' I'll tell you. Every day I am striving—toward my goal and her. And with her on my side, I can't fail. And neither can Ken, if he'll get out of this blue funk he's in, and give himself a chance. After all, there have been depressions before and we've got over them. Why take this one for the end of the world?

"Do you think I am going to stand for failure? Never! Of course, there are times when I feel low, even, now but one little thought of her, and I couldn't quit if I wanted to.

"Honestly, I consider myself the happiest and most fortunate fellow in the whole world! I needed a jolt like I got. Now I'm going after things in earnest!

"HARRY."

A great little girl? I'll say! And despite Rumor to the contrary, America has thousands of Great Little Girls like that!

LOYAL GIRLS

Gold diggers? Poor sports? Moochers and grafters? Yes, we have 'em. The world always has had 'em. And always will. But never has this section of the world held a finer crop of "good little scouts" than it holds today.

Everywhere you meet them – Sweeties who are sticking by their boy friends through the hard times . . . . young wives who are standing by their husbands. Many a time the girl or the wife is carrying all the load—making one pay check do for two. And that's a bitter pill for any man to swallow. But great little girls, like this one, take all the bitterness out of the pill by faith.

"I believe in you, darling!" they cry.

And belief like that will drag any man . . . or any nation . . . out of the bread line!

Got a bunch of cheers you can use?

Then use them for the loyal, loving, game little gal who sticks by a man when he's down!

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Factory hair is on display in the beautytoriums. Clusters of curls to place over the ears or even atop the crown of the head. Puffs in groups, solo ones to tuck behind the ears when bobs are growing out and ends are rebellious. Narrow braids are designed to wreathe the head.

A slender darling can place her girdle at the normal waistline, presenting a figure that is chic and sassy. The trick won't do for the hippy ones, who should drop their belts slightly, or dispense with them altogether, having their frocks cut with long sweeping lines of loose fit. As fat girls haven't any waists they can't very well nip 'em in.

Frowns are self inflicted. They are produced by the bad habit of pulling the eyebrows together. Victims of frowns need soul lifts more than facial lifts. As long as they make these lines they will have them.

When a blackhead clogs a pore, the excretions pile up into a mass. There is no outlet for them. In time the walls of the pores break under the strain; the result is a pimple. Pores can be cleaned by applying compresses which have been dipped in a solution of ordinary baking soda. The soda acts as a solvent to grease and dust. To one quart of hot water, add a teaspoonful of soda. Dip in a washcloth, place it on the face.

TOO MANY GIRLS ARE FACINATED BY FLASH
ABOVE ALL THINGS JUDGE YOUR MAN BY HIS CHARACTER. ALL ELSE IS SECONDARY
LOTS OF GIRLS THINK MORE OF THEIR FRIENDS' OPINION THAN OF THEIR OWN HAPPINESS
WHAT WOULD MY FRIENDS SAY IF I MARRY YOU?
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

Many a girl has foolishly refused to marry a worthy young man she loved because his obscure position would not impress her friends.

Instead they have married a "good spender," a "rich playboy" or some young man of fame or family name.

It is then they realize that good character is the most important factor in considering a young man.

That young man who prefers to be humble and patiently awaits an honest opportunity to progress in his ambitions, marks himself a real man among real men.

No girl need hesitate to link her life to such a young man. Friends who would belittle him are not worth keeping.

Heart of a Wife -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Mother Graham's Comments Stir Up Hornet's Nest

I knew only too well what my mother-in-law's beligerent attitude meant when at Junior's query she told me that she hoped I was satisfied now, and could see that my "new fangled ideas haven't changed the situation one mite." Dicky often says that his sterling, somewhat crabbed, but eminently lovable old mother is "the original 'I told you so,'" all other claimants fraudulent. And she never had been more emphatically a Cassandra than when, before Junior went away, she had voiced her disapproval of my insistence upon preparing him for the advent of his baby sister.

"It's worse than nonsense," she had stormed, when milder arguments had left me adamant. "Let him be surprised when he comes home. If he had so long a time to think about it, you don't know what notions or prejudices he'll get into his head."

But I was fortified, not only by my own conscience, but by the agreement with me, of Dickey, Katherine and Lillian. We all know Junior's inclination to be jealous of anything which takes attention from himself, and we had observed a similar tendency in Roderick. I knew also the value of repeated suggestion to child minds, so long before they went away with the Underwoods for the summer vacation, I talked to the boys each day of the wonderful gift which would be theirs when they came back. I had been most matter of fact with them, though with a bit of camouflage, about the necessary information which so many mothers shirk, and they had rewarded me, as children do, by accepting what I had told them with something nearly resembling indifference.

And now, some unknown woman had made that banal old comment of a "nose out of joint," the thing of all others which I had been anxious that the boys should not hear. Yet how had the women known—I looked from my mother-in-law, who had thrown herself back in her chair with an air of disgust with the universe written on her face, to Lillian, who, with a wry smile, explained.

"You'd make your everlasting fortune as a saleswoman, Madge," she said. "You 'sold' the baby so effectually to Junior and Roderick that she has been the main topic of conversation with them all summer. If this were not the frankest age on record, I should have been embarrassed at their insistence upon announcing their rapturous anticipation to everybody they met. And when Dicky telephoned that the baby sister was here, I thought we'd have to put 'em both in strait-jackets. I was terribly sorry about that 'nose out of joint' spiel on the part of the woman who did for us, in local parlance, and who incidentally did us brown on both sides. I had been on the watch for something of the sort, but she slipped it over one day when I wasn't listening closely. I slammed on the brakes as quickly as I could, and when the boys asked me what she meant, I basely dodged and told them you would tell them about it when they came home."

"Serves you right, Margaret," my mother-in-law commented, acidulously. "Your excuse for telling him about the baby was your fear of this very thing—that somebody would tell him his 'nose would be out of joint' when the baby came. And now, you see, he's been told that long before he needed to know anything. Besides, I can't see that both he and Roderick have been making you perfectly ridiclously by blabbing their knowledge to everybody. Perhaps you'll take my advice another time."

I looked warningly at Dicky. It had been a long time since his mother had railed out at me in this manner, and, curiously enough, in the light of my early marital experiences, my only reaction, save a slight fatigued irration, was a fear that he might speak sharply to her. I had suffered much from my mother-in-law's caustic tongue in those first years of my marriage, and though Dicky never had approved of her strictures, he had not openly "taken sides" with me. After Junior's arrival, however, he had become more and more my champion, for, whatever our other causes of dispute, we always have been most harmonious in our ideas concerning the training of Junior. Curiously enough, as he became more critical of his mother's mannerisms, I had become more tolerant, due, I knew, to the older woman's change of attitude toward me. I knew that she now had a genuine affection for me.

I also knew what capacity for anger was hers when her imperious will was crossed. And my mental thermometer raced toward zero as Dicky said sharply:

"Mother, what do you mean by talking that way? Have you no consideration for Madge?"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Modern Diet to Blame for Defective Teeth

Have you ever visited the National Museum in Washington? If so, undoubtedly you have noticed a row of more than 200 skulls. These are the skulls of Indians who lived in this country more than 200 years ago.

Dr. Copeland

Of all the teeth in this entire collection of skulls only one tooth shows dental decay. Can you picture a similar collection of skulls of the present American? I am sure that the number of cavities and evidences of dental decay would be appalling.

The food of modern civilization is quite different from what was consumed by those old time Indians. The Indian had to grind and tear the food with his teeth. He ate roots, berries and herbs containing minerals that strengthened his teeth and preserved them throughout life. The white man lacks these foods and suffers in consequence.

According to the United States Public Health Service, decayed teeth afford excellent breeding places for germs. Many of the diseases of childhood can be traced to poor teeth. There is no doubt in the minds of the general medical profession that poor teeth serve as breeding places for many infections.

Children should be taken to the dentist at an early age. Dental care can begin as early as the age of three. The youngsters should visit the dentist every six months. The temporary teeth are entitled to the same care as the permanent teeth.

We are living in an age of preventive medicine. A great many diseases can be prevented. Good teeth can only be obtained by daily care and proper dental attention on occasions. These measures will prevent much suffering in later life.

I cannot overemphasize the importance of diet in relation to teeth. Our ancestors possessed strong teeth because of their diet which differed materially from the food of today.

Coarse food like the vegetables and cereals are strongly recommended for children. Hard, dry toast is good for the young. These foods give exercise to the teeth and aid in their building and strengthening.

In order that the teeth of a growing child be healthy, it is necessary to have an abundance of two minerals. These minerals are lime and phosphorus. Lime is found in green vegetables and milk. Phosphorus is found in green vegetables, fresh fish, cheese and other foods.

Children should have plenty of fresh milk, fresh fruit, vegetables, eggs, cream and butter. Proper food, plus sunshine and fresh air, insures proper growth, sturdy bone development and strong teeth.

Answers to Health Queries

Yours Truly. Q.—What will darken the eyelashes?

A.—Apply 1 per cent yellow oxide of mercury ointment to the lashes at night before retiring—this will tend to increase their growth and make them appear heavier and darker.

* * *

W. O. W. Q.—Is it possible to definitely clear up a venereal disease? Are there unmistakable signs when it has been cleared up? Are there clinics where one can go for treatment for any of these diseases? How long does the treatment last? Can they be cured without treatment?

A. — Yes, in some instances where the trouble has not made too much progress. Yes. The blood tests will determine this fact. Yes, make inquiry at one of the large hospitals in your vicinity. The length of time depends upon the seriousness and extent of the infection. The treatment is intensive, in some cases lasting over a period of years. No.

Household Hints

To cut a warm cake neatly and easily, dip the knife in cold water before cutting.

A wooden potato masher is an excellent utensil for creaming butter and sugar. Mix cake batter with a large wooden spoon, it becomes light much sooner.

For white spots on floors, caused by a leaky radiator, use a few drops of ammonia on a moist cloth; then rub the spots with a clean cloth and polish with oil or refinish to match the floor.

If your gas oven is a very quick one it is apt to dry out roasted meat. Place a saucepan half full of water in a corner of the oven. The steam will keep the air moist and the meat will be juicy.

Always cook rice in sufficient water to eliminate the necessity of stirring. But, should stirring be necessary, remember to use a fork instead of a spoon, for the latter implement will crush the grains and make the rice mushy.

In these days of expensive linens, napkins can be produced quite inexpensively from the good pieces of a worn tablecloth. Cut out the good squares and either hem them or run around with a simple crochet stitch. They will at least help out for family use and save wear and tear on the better napkins.

Correct Manners

When to Serve the Salad

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

How should a salad be served at dinner, after the meat course, or before?

We went to a restaurant for dinner and they served first the soup, then the salad, and then the meat and vegetables. Was this correct? Or should the salad be served after the meat course?

M. T.

When one serves a salad during a meal depends on what one's choice is. In some parts of the country, especially where fruit salad is much served, the fruit salad is served first. Sometimes a salad, especially certain appropriate kinds, is served as an entree, before the main meat course. And sometimes it is delicious to have a salad, say a lettuce and tomato salad, served with a steak or chops for the main course.

But usually a salad is served as a separate course after the main course, between the main course and the dessert. This is practically always done at meals that tend to formality. Nowadays, when we have such interesting accessories for salads . . . in the form of cheeses and biscuits and crackers . . . it is more delightful to serve the salad as a separate course, as a piquant sequence to the main course.

Am I Right or Wrong?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please tell me whether I am decidedly in the wrong?

My girl and I have been going out very often with another couple, in the other man's car, and accepting a lot of favors from the boy of the other couple. The other girl has a birthday this week, and I think it would be rather nice for my girl and me to give her a gift. What do you think?

F. E.

This would be a fine gesture, and you could plan this so charmingly that it would show your appreciation of these many kindnesses. Too, I suggest that you plan other thoughtful things to do for this couple, so that all of the friendly gestures will not be all on their side. People who accept car-hospitality constantly from friends should be most careful that they do their share of hospitality in some other form, in return. This is most important in these days when this question so often arises. The man-who-owns-one, otherwise, will get a bit fed up by constantly giving—and he is quite justified.

FOLLIES REACH NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 29.—(Universal.)—Seventy glorified, certified A-1 beauties, a long list of stars and Florenz Ziegfeld have returned to town from Pittsburgh with the new Follies of 1931.

Early customers for the Long Island beaches, and particularly gentlemen who prefer variety, got a Sunday morning eyefull yesterday which has probably never been duplicated. That there were a good many masculine—and feminine!—necks badly twisted was patent to the most casual observer.

The Follies, which played two weeks to record receipts of $90,000 in blistering weather at the Nixon Theater in Pittsburgh, makes its New York debut Wednesday night at the Ziegfeld Theater here. The man who can gild the lily of American womanhood and get away with it admitted himself that he was very satisfied with the Pittsburgh engagement, if somewhat short of sleep himself. Mr. Ziegfeld said:

"We didn't decide to play another week in Pittsburgh until Friday, and Saturday there was a line two blocks long to get seats. We played to $2,000 over capacity the first week, and were sold out for the second week by Monday. And the heat was terrific!"

VOTE MACHINE QUIZ EXTENDED

HARRISBURG, June 29.—(AP.)—Plans for an investigation of the voting machine situation in 13 counties in accordance with the new provisions of the state law, enacted through Gov. Pinchot's approval last week of the Richards bill, were announced today by Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish.

He said a delegation from Cambria County will confer with him here tomorrow afternoon. Cambria County electors voted to install machines, but defeated a proposed bond loan to finance the installation. Secretary Beamish said he would urge the Cambria County Commissioners to proceed on the installment plan so far as they are financially able, as other counties have done.

Next week Beamish will sit with the Senate Voting Machine Investigating Committee in Pittsburgh and at that time will investigate the Allegheny County situation where 1,100 voting machines have been ordered and none yet delivered.

State College Fund Prevents Expansion

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 29.—Continuance of the present program of operation at the Pennsylvania State College is assured in the 1931-33 biennial appropriation announced Saturday following Gov. Pinchot's signing of the college maintenance bill at his budget figure of $4,000,000.

It is understood that there can be little expansion of the college in the coming two years and that a program of economy will be followed in accordance with the Governor's wishes.

Officers Hunt Two Fleeing U. S. Jail

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 29.—(AP.)—Officers today conducted a search for two prisoners who last night escaped from the federal wing of the city jail, after sawing bars of a window and striking the jail cook on the head with one of the bars.

The men sought were Everett Dappe, Kansas City, Mo., and [illegible]len Stopel, Charleston. Two [illegible]her federal prisoners were captured a short distance from the jail.

Catholic Clergymen Meeting at Niagara

French Aviatrix Starts for Russia

LE BOURGET, France, June 29.—(AP.)—Mme. Maryse Bastie, well known French flier, took off from here at 5:02 a. m. yesterday in an effort to reach Russia without making a stop and to break the straight line light airplane record. She was flying a 40-horsepower monoplane.

5,000 Trout Killed In Pools by Poison

BERWICK, Pa., June 29.—(AP.)—Members of the Berwick Better Fishing Club found 5,000 trout in their rearing pools dead. They believe the fish were killed when poison used to spray a nearby potato field was washed into the pools by rain.

Thieves Fell Trees To Gather Cherries

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 29.—Thieves not only stripped the cherry orchard of Mike Zamiska, of Pleasant Unity, of all fruit, but cut down two trees. Four men and eight boys have been arrested.

Car Near Pool, Man Believed Suicide

READING, Pa., June 29.—(AP.)—His car, locked, standing near a bathing pool in an old ore mine near Joanna since late Saturday night, led to the belief today that Albert Gromis, 27, a Fleetwood baker, is dead in the pond.

Taxi Strike Leaders Set Vote on Peace Terms

$5,000 FIRE SWEEPS TWO BUILDINGS AT J. & L. MILL

BACK-TO-WORK PLAN PUSHED AT MEETING

Unit, Fearing Intimidation, Urges Secret Ballot; Union Studies Pact Offer

Tomorrow has been tentatively set by leaders of a "back-to-work" element of the striking cab drivers, for a vote on peace terms offered by the Parmelee Transportation Company. The date was set at a meeting of the leaders yesterday. Many strikers were said to be urging a secret ballot "to prevent intimidation."

A proposed conference today between Paul Houston and officials of the Taxicab Drivers' Union to consider Houston's proposals for settling the strike has been called off, according to Jack Ely, spokesman for the union. Houston called off the meeting, Ely said.

The nature of the peace overtures made at the parley, the first meet of the union spokesmen with company officials since the strike began June 13, was not made public. Houston was quoted by the union men as having said he would like to put 350 cabs on the streets, employing about 700 men, but that no recognition of the drivers' union could be considered.

Quiet prevailed yesterday as 148 cabs continued giving limited service downtown and in a few outlying sections. Extra police were kept on duty to preserve order.

OPEN DUQUESNE SUMMER STUDY

Summer classes were to begin today at Duquesne University as the tenth annual summer session opened. The courses will be conducted until August 8 when the summer commencement is to be held.

Should the heat make study uncomfortable in the classrooms the university has arranged to hold classes on the campus. Outdoor classes were successful last year. John B. Harvey, registrar, states that every effort has been made to have the classrooms well ventilated and comfortable.

The regular faculty of the university will conduct the summer session. Courses are offered in the College of Arts, Schools of Education, Music, Accounts, Drama and College of Science.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 29.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Will you do me one favor? If you see or hear of anybody proposing my name for any political office will you maim said party and send me the bill. "Life" magazine and I had a lot of fun last time by running for office but am not going to try the same comedy twice. My friend on Colliers, George Creel, says that I am taking this running serious. George, that's the worst slam you ever took against my sense of humor. I certainly know that a comedian can only last till he either takes himself serious or his audience takes him serious and I don't want either to happen to me till I am dead (if then) so let's stop all this d—— foolishness right now.

Will Rogers

I couldn't run anyhow because can't make up my mind which side to run on—"wet" or "dry." I don't know which side the most votes are on and, I can't straddle it for that's what all the rest of the candidates are doing.

Yours, WILL.

Due to lack of funds, the unemployment relief efforts of the Allegheny County Emergency Association will be curtailed until autumn. A new employment program is expected to be launched after the completion on August 29 of the projects now under way. This week there will be 2,854 men employed.

SERBIANS OPEN BUSINESS SESSIONS

National Convention Parleys Follow Luncheon Marking 5 Centuries of Vassalage

Business sessions of the Serb National Federation were to open today, following the opening of the convention yesterday in Webster Hall, with a luncheon commemorating the battle of Kossovo Plain, where, at the close of the fourteenth century, the Serbian army suffered a defeat which plunged the nation into five centuries of vassalage.

More than 200 delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada, and more than 500 visitors attended the luncheon.

Welcoming the delegates and visitors on behalf of the city were Charles P. Lang, assistant city solicitor, representing Mayor Kline; Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, President of Council John S. Herron, Frank J. Lanahan, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Elmer A. Barchfield, counsel for the federation. EXPECT LARGER DRY FORCE HERE

Federal prohibition officials here have not been advised whether any of the 350 dry agents to begin training Wednesday for duty on July 16 will be assigned to the Pittsburgh district.

An increase is anticipated, as the number of dry enforcement agents and investigators in the western part of the state is lower than when Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington left a year ago for Philadelphia to assume charge of the Pennsylvania-New Jersey-Delaware area.

At that time there were between 60 and 70 agents, but during the past few months the maximum number has been 50. Since Pennington left many of the older men have been sent east and their places taken here by new men.

DANCING TO HELP KNOXVILLE POOR

OFFICER, WIFE HELD IN CLASH

Jacob Mintz, a deputy constable in Squirrel Hill, and his wife, Julia, of 5637 Woodmont street, were arraigned in East End Police Court yesterday on disorderly conduct charges, following a street argument with two policemen. Disposition of the case was withheld for a later hearing.

While Mrs. Mintz was in a Murray avenue store Saturday night, her husband remained in their automobile. Patrolmen John Cavanaugh and Thomas Salter ordered him to move the machine from a "no parking" zone. He refused, the officers said, and they gave him a parking tag. The argument continued and the policemen placed him under arrest.

Mrs. Mintz came from the store just in time to see her husband being helped into the police patrol. The officers told Magistrate Papale that she berated them so vigorously for the arrest that they arrester her, too.

Nations Emerge From Huddle and Ball Is Missing

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

The week just ended was a pip for sensational rumors of peace.

All the big nations signed the dollar armistice, prosperity quivered an eyelid and Wall street brokers are again looking into mirrors after breathing on them for two years.

They've called off the big debt game. Here's what happened. When America, England and France came out of that 12-year huddle, they discovered they didn't have any football.

Germany is flatter than the white side of a flounder. You can't squeeze blood out of a turnip and you can't fool anybody by using a red beet.

So the big powers are going to give Berlin a chance to get organized. Andy Mellon had to do plenty talking to whip France into line because France has been enjoying its first victory since Napoleon stuck his hand inside his coat.

It also proves that the man in the driver's seat ain't going anywhere if we hold the red light against him. America is still head man around the diggings. But we had a close call.

You can imagine how serious it was when we had to send Andy Mellon over there instead of a diplomat.

EVANS TO SEEK ELECTION AS JUDGE

Assistant U. S. Attorney And World War Veteran Announces Candidacy

Raymond D. Evans, assistant United States attorney and World War veteran, has announced his candidacy for one of the seven judgeships of Common Pleas Court to be elected next fall. He is married and lives at 5811 Elgin avenue, Pittsburgh.

Evans was one of three lawyers recommended in a Bar Association referendum as qualified for appointment to the bench when former Gov. Fisher was considering applicants for a vacancy. More than 400 lawyers have signed petitions to have Evans' name placed on the ballot. He has adopted for a campaign slogan, "The bench must be kept independent of politics."

Attorney Evans

Evans stated:

"The high compliment the bar paid me reflects my record and integrity as one of the United States attorneys for the past five years. As a quasi-judicial officer, I have necessarily had a wide experience preparatory for the bench and I believe I have met the tests of honesty and courage, which, in my opinion, are the first requisites of a good jurist.

"A judge must not only be learned in the law, but must also have an impartial mind and an understanding of life. To pass upon human relations one must understand them. I started my professional experience with a law firm at the age of 13. After rising from errand boy to stenographer, I sought an education and worked my way through preparatory school and Princeton University.

"I spent 25 months in the Army and was in four major engagements. This is an experience in life that very few lawyers have had. My training, education and experience convince me that I can act without prejudice of birth or class and with proper sympathy, pass upon the affairs of my fellow man.

"I am not a candidate because my friends are urging me, but because I am ambitious to advance in my profession. If elected I shall conduct myself as I have in the past, treating the office as a public trust, endeavoring to act with patience and courtesy and never losing sight of the fact that I am a servant of the people."

While the group was still waiting on the sidewalk detectives arrived and said they were seeking Graham. A telegram signed with Graham's name said the buses had been attached in Philadelphia.

CITY HOLDS UP $500,000 JOBS

Indefinite delay in expenditure of a half million dollars on street paving was announced today at a meeting of members of Council with Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert, and Engineers Tom Reed and John J. Croak.

Council decided to go ahead with grading, paving and curbing on only 22 projects. Eighteen projects, with an estimated cost of $308,100, were held up pending further inspection by councilmen.

They repealed ordinances providing for improvements on four streets, and decided to hold up indefinitely the $220,000 continuation of Mt. Washington roadway from Arlington avenue to South Ninth street. Reppert said Council held up the work because it would cost about $1,000,000 to purchase the right of way.

Stone on Track Derails Train, Boy Blamed

Pennsylvania Railroad detectives are hunting a youthful picknicker who placed a stone on the westbound track a quarter mile west of the Horse Shoe Curve, near Altoona. The stone derailed the front wheels of the engine, hauling an express, and delayed the train almost an hour yesterday afternoon. Near this point is a favorite picnic spot, and the inquiry following the accident revealed the cause of the derailment as the act of a juvenile merrymaker.

Shot by police during an alleged attempt to escape arrest, Carmen Falki, 19, of 925 Bedford avenue, was reported to be in fair condition today in Mercy Hospital. The youth, police say, was shot early yesterday in Chatham street at Webster avenue, two blocks from where he and three companions are alleged to have staged a holdup.

George Fenwick, 52, of 712 Beltzhoover avenue, reported that he had been held up in Bedford avenue and robbed of $1.60. Later he called police when he saw Falki in Chatham street. He told police that Falki was one of the four men who robbed him.

Patrolmen George Williams and Francis Bassett said they ordered Falki to halt. When their commands were ignored, both officers opened fire, and Falki fell with a bullet wound in the back, near the spine.

Film Story Being Written On Life Of Rockefeller

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 27.—(AP.)—A story based on the life of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is being written for the movies, and—if the financier doesn't object—it will be released under the title "Rockefeller."

Incidents in the story, written by Lucien Hubbard, have been taken entirely from the life of the elder Rockefeller. It will tell, among other things, the romance of the founding of his huge oil company, his philanthropies and his dime-giving habit.

The star role in the picture will be played by George Arliss, whose recent film, "The Millionaire," is said to have been suggested by the unsuccessful retirement of Henry Ford a few years ago.

CLYDE STREET CLOSED

Hundreds of motorists drove right in, turned around and drove right out again. That's what has been happening on Clyde street, East End, since Saturday morning.

Clyde street is only a block long, running elbow fashion from Fifth avenue to Ellsworth street. It is used by hundreds of motorists daily as a short cut.

After a lightning bolt had left the 40-foot chimney tottering on top of the Cathedral Mansions apartments at Clyde street and Ellsworth street Saturday, Clyde street was closed to motorists at the Ellsworth street end. The Department of Public Works placed barricades along that end of the street, but failed to give motorists any warning at the Fifth avenue end.

As a result hundreds of automobiles have turned into the street from Fifth avenue only to turn back at the barricade.

BEST FOR SUNBURN
Beach First Aid Stations Report

Chief Lifeguard McMonigle treating a sunburn case at First Aid Station.

Soothing, cooling Noxzema ends pain instantly

. . . doesn't stain clothes

WHEN FIRST AID STATIONS and Lifeguards at America's biggest beaches use Noxzema exclusively, you can rest assured that it's the best thing out for sunburn.

John McMonigle, director of lifeguards, Coney Island says, "For going on thirty years I've been a lifeguard or director of lifeguards. In all that time I never found a thoroughly satisfactory sunburn remedy till I tried Noxzema.

"This is the fifth season we've been using it in our First Aid Station here at Coney. It cools and soothes, and relieves the soreness and burning almost instantly. And you'd hardly believe how quickly it will heal even a bad burn."

Beach authorities at many other leading resorts like Atlantic City, Asbury Park and Long Beach have also found Noxzema the most effective remedy for sunburn. Don't suffer needlessly—get a jar today at any drug or department store.

GREASELESS—WILL NOT STAIN

Apply Noxzema freely—even before putting on dainty summer clothes. It is positively greaseless—cannot soil or stain.

Tobaccos like these require no parching

What good would it do to wrap Camel cigarettes in moisture-proof Cellophane if all of the natural moisture had been parched out beforehand?

Parching, as you probably know, is a high heat process sometimes used in an attempt to reduce the burn and bite of harsh strong tobaccos.

Camels, on the other hand, are a blend of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos that are so ripe, mild and cool they need no artificial treatment.

We use the Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane to preserve every vestige of that original flavor. It prevents the loss of natural moisture by evaporation, keeping Camels factory-fresh wherever you buy them.

If you aren't a Camel smoker, switch over to this brand for one whole day. After you have learned how cool and mild they are, how flavorful and fresh, go back to your old brand—if you can.

NO CIGARETTY AFTER-TASTE

● Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against sweat, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one

JOHN D. GRAHAM SEEKS OFFICE AS RECORDER

Member of Tax Board Aspires to Position He Has Held Twice Before

John D. Graham, of the county tax board, has announced his candidacy for recorder of deeds of Allegheny County. He was elected to that office twice and previously served as clerk in the office and as deputy recorder.

Graham said:

"This is a fee office where the receipts are required to bear the expense of the office and during each year of my incumbency as recorder a substantial balance of from $35,000 to $75,000 was turned into the county and without any sacrifice of salaries or time on the part of employes of the office.

"For reference to my handling of the business of the office, I gladly refer the citizens of the county to the banking institutions, trust companies, real estate brokers, attorneys, property owners and all persons who had business in the office of the recorder of deeds during my years of service there.

"I have always been loyal to the Republican organization and am appealing to the Republican voters at large and not as a candidate of any clique or faction as I feel that a person in an important office of this kind is the representative and servant of all the citizens of the county and as such I become a candidate. If nominated and elected my aim will be to serve the people's interests and I place my candidacy in their hands."

RAIDED PLANT TO MAKE ICE

The Labor Products and Ice Company of Brackenridge can continue to manufacture ice as a result of a temporary injunction granted today by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson. The injunction restrains Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington and Deputy Administrator Robert S. Krause from dismantling machinery at the plant, which was raided Friday.

The raid on the plant followed the arrest of Joseph Flahery, who, dry agents said, was driving a truck away from the plant, loaded with beer.

The company, which has a permit to manufacture cereal beverages, claims that between 4,000 and 5,000 families in Freeport, Tarentum, Brackenridge and other Allegheny Valley towns are dependent upon it for their supply of ice.

The seven weeks' course is free to city pupils. Those from the boroughs and townships must pay a $10 fee.

According to Dr. Graham, the number of pupils is divided about equally between those who failed in certain subjects and those who desired to make additional credits.

Bradford Oil Firm Gets Tax Refund

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP.) — Refunds of income tax amounting to $20,367 have been granted the Kendall Refining Company, of Bradford, Pa., by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The refunds, made on taxes paid for 1917 and 1918, resulted from overassessments of the company's tax liability pursuant to discovery of errors in the original returns. They represented allowances for several various items.

SECOND AVENUE FLOODED BY MAIN

Broken Line Sends Stream Spouting 7 Feet in Air; Pier Holes Quickly Filled

With water spouting about seven feet, parts of Second avenue, near the entrance of the Armstrong tubes, and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, were flooded early today, when a 30-inch main trunk line burst. The damage was slight.

The trunk line supplied the downtown section and adjacent territory, but service was not interrupted. The line originated at No. 2 reservoir in Highland Park.

Several pier holes, one 40 feet deep, dug for the new Tenth Street Bridge, were filled. The probable cause of the break was the forcing of a plug when a connecting line crossing the old Tenth Street Bridge was removed.

Suspects Detained Pending Outcome of Injuries To Innocent Bystander

Braddock police today were holding two men to await the outcome of the injuries of a third, an innocent bystander, who was shot late Saturday night during an argument, according to police, in a restaurant conducted by John Slymnplosky, 35, of 222 Eleventh street, Braddock.

Slymnplosky and Andy Micnik, 30, of 1207 Pine way, Braddock, are being held, while John Shimpko, 41, of 50 King way, Braddock, is in Braddock General Hospital, suffering from a gunshot wound in the abdomen. His condition was said to be fair.

According to County Detectives John T. Burke and Albert Shedlock, Slymnplosky and Micnik had a dispute over money. Micnik went to his home, returned with a revolver, and, detectives said, fired a shot which struck Shimpko. Officers said the two men would probably be brought to the county jail today, to await the outcome of the other man's injuries.

WE NOW PRESENT

By
HOWARD L. BROWNING, JR.

Do you want to dance tonight? If you have that kind of a radio and that kind of a floor, tune in on Roy Bargy's Orchestra over KDKA at 9 p. m. If you haven't, pull up the easy chair and listen to some rythm. If one does listen to rythm.

Farrar

All rythm aside, however, KDKA's best half-hour tonight will be Geraldine Farrar in her radio debut at 10:30 p. m. Nat Shilkret's Orchestra will accompany the prima donna with some additional numbers of its own. Miss Farrar's operatic program will be the first of a series of such classical periods to come over NBC. Marion Talley and John McCormick will appear later.

Young Stribling and Max Schmeling round by round is the feature attraction of NBC'S red network (WCAE) this Friday night at 9:30. McNamee and Tom Manning of WTAM are to paint the picture.

J. W. B.—Bernie Armstrong is the "Hollywood Reporter" on those Friday dinner parties. The Revelers return to the red network (WCAE) next Monday.

"Russia in the Melting Pot" is the subject of a talk scheduled for H. G. Wells from London on Monday, July 13, via CBS.

WBZ, at Springfield, Mass., is perking into Pittsburgh very well with its new 50,080-watt transmitter.

Paul Doumer, recently elected president of France, is to be heard over the Columbia network Friday afternoon.

You haven't heard the Oklahoma Cowboys on the radio recently because there's been dissension in the ranks. Some of the boys have formed their own show under the leadership of Billy Knox. They're in town and will be heard on KDKA tomorrow morning at 10:45.

Cab Calloway takes the place of "Sisters of the Skillet" in the Dinner Party on KDKA this Friday. The "Sisters" have postponed their visit to Pittsburgh. Fred Waring's Orchestra has been moved back to the week of July 17 for a WJAS broadcast previously scheduled for July 3.

William Fay broadcasts with the Rochester Civic Orchestra tonight at 10 over KDKA. . . . Floyd Gibbons will break down some of the legends about the Declaration of Independence, on July 4. . . . Joe Penner (D'ya wanna buy a duck?) is on KDKA at 11:25 p. m.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, June 29.—Someone once said there were two kinds of stage comedians—good and bad. So it is with radio's own jesters. But here the similarity ends.

In the footlight realm, if the efforts of the comedian fail to turn up the corner of his audience's mouth, he migrates to other locales where his art—good old art—will be better appreciated. If he develops a good act, and it goes across, then he still continues on his way before his gags become too familiar to the customers.

The radio comic has no such latitude. He plays to the entire nation at once, and each time he steps before the metal box—Al Smith used to call it a pieplate—without spectators for his measuring stick, he must have a fresh line. Or a new way of saying an old one. Gesture and grimace are of no aid to him. He cannot know if he has pleased his audience until the show is over.

* * *

Then, too, because his followers are from every section of the land, his brand of humor must strike a happy medium. If not, a huge hook in the form of letters, verbal protests, phone calls will in due time reach out and pull him off the ethereal stage. The same letters, comments, calls are often the gauge of his popularity.

* * *

Radio's funny men who seem to have struck the fancy of the rocking chairs represent diversified types of humor. There is Roy Atwell, who seeks the guffaw by scrambling his words and phrases, not in the dialect style of Weber and Fields, but more in the manner of a shy youth who is not quite bright. There is Henry Burbig, seasoned veteran of socalled Yiddish dialect. For more than two years he has offered his own interpretations of well known poems, stories, historical occurrences.

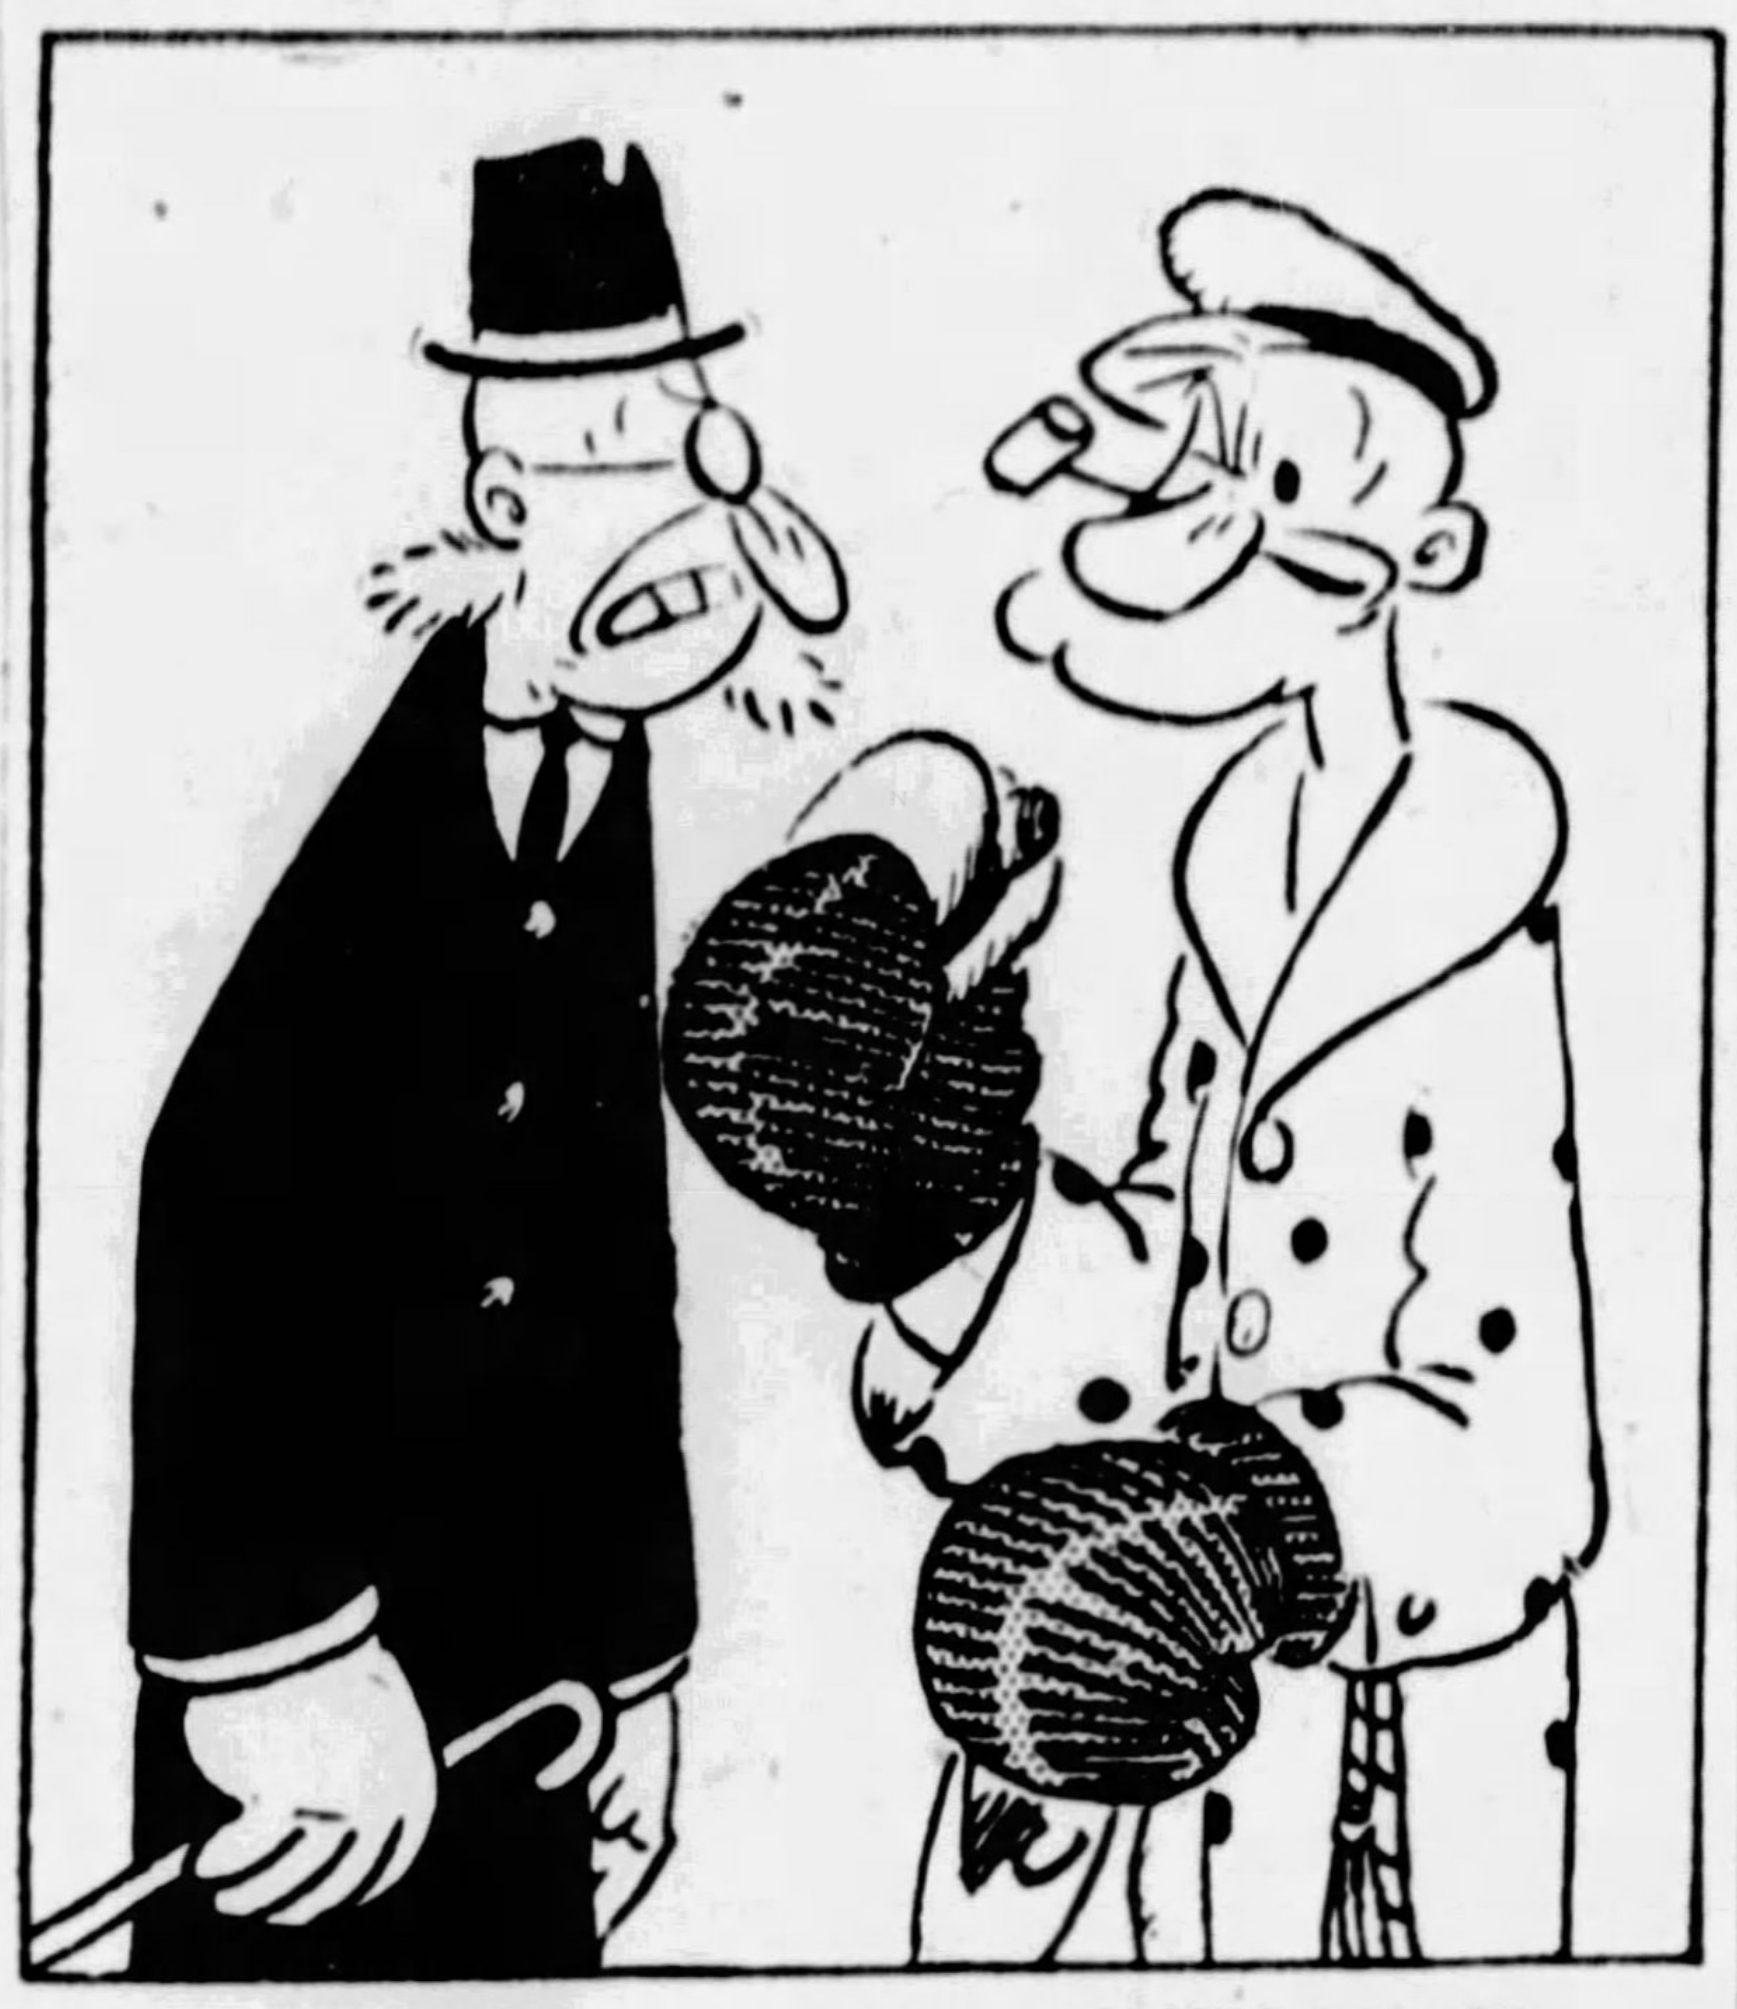
CAUGHT HATING POPEYE!



Here you see vividly, with malice aforethought, the hate Mr. Kilph holds for Popeye and the enmity that led him to sign up the fighting sailor for a match with Kid Klutch, trained battling gorilla, in the hope that the beast would eradicate Popeye. Follow the course of this battle in the Thimble Theater comic Sunday in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Popeye'll certainly make you laugh.

Girls at Scouts' Camp Need Little for Sweets

Fifty cents a week for sweets is plenty for Girl Scouts who are planning to spend their vacation time at Camp Andree Clark, national Girl Scout camp at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., according to the ruling of the national organization. The camp dietitian provides plenty of sweets in the menu, so more than 50 cents spending money for extra tid-bits is frowned upon.

Because Andree Clark, 16-year-old daughter of Senator and Mrs. William A. Clark was a Girl Scout when she died and left in her diary the story of how much Girl Scouting meant to her, her parents gave the site for Camp Andree to the national organization in her memory.

It is used as a national experimental camp where new ideas are tried out and if acceptable are then introduced throughout the field to the quarter of a million Girl Scouts in the national organization. Camp Andree is restricted to girls from 14 to 18 years of age who have passed or are qualified to pass their second class Girl Scout test.

The girls at Camp Andree live as much like pioneers as possible. They go down a long hill to their market to shop; chop all of their own fire wood; make their own fires; cook their own meals; budget their allowances, and the troops plan hikes and explorations.

Mrs. Wayne Rawley, of the Schenley Apartments, a member of the Ligonier Woman's Club, turned over her beautiful country estate at Kissell Springs to the club members for their closing meeting on Saturday.

An exhibit of antiques was one especially interesting feature of the afternoon. Here one saw early medical instruments, including the first clinical thermometer used in the Ligonier Valley, a tooth extractor, a turkey call, some lovely old china, rare books (there was one by Martin Luther printed in 1621) and many other articles. But most unusual, perhaps, was the buckskin horsehide, beautiful in texture and color, which had belonged to the third generation of one of these blond equines, the line of which has been extinct in the valley since 1925. The original valley ancestor came from Kentucky and was once a Pittsburgh street car horse.

Informal Program

A short informal program was given under the leadership of the retiring president, Mrs. George S. Naugle. Mrs. O. G. Leichliter, of Wilkinsburg, whose ancestors hewed a way through the wilderness and settled near Ligonier, gave a charming talk on the spiritual values of such exhibits and the realization they bring of the finer, worthwhile things of life. She then went on to speak of several recent books which bring this same viewpoint, among them "Grandmother Brown's Hundred Years," by Harriet Connor Brown. Appropriately, Miss Reba Newton sang some old fashioned songs, with Miss Helen Vance at the piano, both artists being in costume. Mrs. J. G. Chalfant, State Federation chairman of education, talked briefly on the work of her department. After tea the women wandered over the lovely estate, admiring the noisy little mountain stream in which great growths of rhododendron dip their sturdy leaves, the century old hemlocks that rear their symmetrical shapes in such profusion, the flower beds so attractive in their informal arrangement, and even the triangular-shaped vegetable gardens at the back of the big house.

Next year's officers of the club are: President, Mrs. A. J. McColly; vice president, Mrs. George A. Freeman; recording secretary, Mrs. George S. Naugle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry W. Rhody; treasurer, Mrs. Edward L. Duppstadt.

Juniors Growing

Allegheny County Junior Club women are organized into 19 sections and now have a membership of 480. Each section is doing something for the chief objective of the juniors—transcriptions in Braille—and several of the sections have contributed 100 per cent to the work, among them the Oakmont, Carrick, Bridgeville, Knoxville, Triboro, Wilkinsburg and Bradford Woods groups. In addition to this work for the blind, many of the sections have given outstanding assistance to the senior groups—the Bridgeville girls, for instance, having contributed substantially to the building fund as well as having purchased a grand piano as their part in the new clubhouse furnishings.

Some like it hot
Some like it cold

And whether it's bean porridge in the pot, or roast beef on the rack, we're on the lookout for the best ways of serving it hot or cold. For we have a kitchen of our own, fitted out with all the traditional gear for cooking and testing food.

Every day we plan meals, do the shopping (guess where?), and cook up plain and fancy victuals. Simply selling pure foods isn't enough for us. We see to it that our foods behave well in our kitchen before we send them into yours. And if there's a new wrinkle in cookery we want to know about it.

So we're constantly kitchen-testing our foods by the most up-to-date methods, and kitchen-tasting them in the good old-fashioned way. We know our food is good. We eat it ourselves.

CHARMING, DIVERSIFIED FROCKS FOR EVENING WEAR PLENTIFUL

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, June 29. — Whoever is unable to find the ideal evening frock just now had better resign herself to an endless row of evenings at home. We cannot remember just when frocks designed for gladsome evening outings have ever been more charming, more diversified, or more wearable. It seems as though everything is in fashion, except the over elaborate type of frock. No one seems to be sorry that this sort of frock isn't very popular.

* * *

MOST OF US are well content to look fresh and beautifully groomed, wearing dresses that are attractive, with a youthful charm that is priceless. Frills and flounces are much, although very discreetly, used. Sheer and semi-sheer fabrics are, of course, the wear of the moment just now. And every smart place boasts its quota of organdy frocks that are fresh and youthful without being professionally girlish.

* * *

SKETCHED TO ADORN this page are two of the most representative of this season's type of evening frock. The first model is by Maggy Rouff and is of banana colored crepe romain with a corsage bouquet of peach and dark brown flowers. The little bolero, knotted in front, is removable, revealing a fairly low decollete. The three circular flounces on the skirt are placed rather low.

* * *

FOUR TRAPPED BY TRAIN DIE

ALBANY, N. Y., June 29.—(AP.)—Trapped in the middle of a railroad trestle here today as a train bore down on them, a man dropped his three small boy companions in the Normanskill Creek, 50 feet below, in a desperate attempt to save them, and then was killed by the locomotive before he could hurl himself after them.

The dead were Thomas J. Burgess, 45, of Albany, and his sons, William, 7; Russell Solomon, 8, and Charles Solomon, 11.

They had been fishing, and Burgess was taking a short cut home. Officials believe he dropped the boys, one by one, and that he died thinking he had saved their lives.

Firemen Leave Movie Girl Poised to Leap

Paris Doctor Tells How to Reduce Fat Safely

Dr. Walter Thalmann, for years physician in the Hospital St. Louis, Paris, France, and Polyclinic Hospital in Vienna, has created a sensation by placing his public endorsement upon an American reducing discovery called ROBEX.

Dr. Thalmann, when retained to give his expert opinion of the ROBEX formula, said:

"Men and women who desire to take off 10 or 12 pounds a week, will NOT find the way through ROBEX. Many women today are 'going crazy' to reduce because they want to retain their youthfulness and keep their husband's love.

"These women try to get thin overnight, and in doing so lose pep, become irritable, pale and drawn-looking.

"I welcome the ROBEX formula because it brings about GRADUAL—and therefore SAFE—reduction. As you lose in weight the ROBEX way, you gain in energy and attractiveness. I place my heartiest approval upon ROBEX."

ROBEX tablets are the easiest thing in the world to take—just four a day—one after meals and at bedtime. Thousands of folks who formerly suffered physical discomfort and mental tortures of obesity, have lost in weight and gained in appearance, simply by taking ROBEX.

Do not let excess fat rob you of love, happiness, health. Tear out this clipping. Start the ROBEX treatment today. Druggists here hand back your money unless you are satisfied with results! Reducing advice free in every package. All Mayflower stores & other good druggists.

Stribling's Plan Faulty. • Week of Features.
Cards Slump on Road. Jamestown Broken.
Robins Come to Life. Tilden's Ambitions.

CONCRETE JAW ONE OF MAX'S ASSETS

Max Schmeling

THE REPORTED BATTLE plan of Young Stribling to fire left jabs and left hooks at Max Schmeling's face and body in the early rounds of Friday's fight, with a view to wearing down the German and opening the way for a shot at his chin with a right smash, appears to indicate a belief on the Georgian's part that Schmeling's jaw is his weak spot. Willie would better get rid of that idea, or he is apt to discover that he has made the wrong guess. Schmeling doesn't wear down easily to begin with, and in the second place his jaw, far from being of glass construction, is one of the toughest in the big division.

Jack Sharkey, though showing up Schmeling as an inferior boxer, didn't hurt him with any of his legitimate punches. He plastered Max with everything he had, but, until he hit low, never was able to stop him from coming back for more. At least a dozen clean wallops, hooks and uppercuts landed flush on the German's jaw without feazing him.

MANY BOXING MEN believe that it was this failure to hurt Schmeling or to stop him from coming in, after peppering him with the best he could deliver, that caused Sharkey to lose his head through disappointment or discouragement and commit the foul that cost him the fight.

And when Sharkey couldn't dent that concrete chin, it is unlikely that Stribling will be able to do so. Don't imagine that the German will crumble easily. Friday's fight may show that he has more ability as well as more willingness to take punishment than Stribling.

THE CARDS ARE not standing up well on the road. For the first time this year they have lost four games in a row, and of their last 12 engagements they have dropped eight, cutting their lead today to a mere game and a half. Burleigh Grimes, their slab mainstay, has lost four of his last five games, three of them to Brooklyn and was knocked out on another occasion.

Meanwhile, the Robins appear to have gotten down to business finally. In the drive which has carried them into the first division and in which they have just trimmed the Cardinals for four in a row, they have won nine of their last 10 games and 12 of their last 15.

SPORT FANS WON'T go hungry this week. The Wimbledon tennis tourney enters its final stages and the United States clay court championships begin today. Londos and Steele wrestle for the world championship tonight. The Sun-Tele junior golf tourney for the William Randolph Hearst Trophy starts tomorrow. The first round of the Diamond Sculls will be rowed at Henley Wednesday. The United States open golf championship tournament gets under way Thursday. Schmeling and Stribling meet for the heavyweight fistic crown Friday night. The annual national championship A. A. U. track and field meet opens the same day, and Saturday will bring the big automobile races at Altoona, the Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct with Twenty Grand among the starters, the start of 10 yachts in a race from Newport across the Atlantic Ocean, and the flock of other activities that always feature the Fourth of July.

George Watkins

ONE DAY LAST week George Watkins won a game for the Cardinals single-handed by cracking out three home runs. Next day he won another by stealing home with the only run of the afternoon. He has been a much talked about ballplayer ever since, but one man who is not surprised at his feats is Manager Gabby Street.

"Watkins reminds me more of Ty Cobb than any other player I ever saw," Street declares. "Laugh, if you like, but don't forget the .373 this fellow hit last year. And don't overlook the fact that he has been improving every day since he joined us. Improving in everything. Two years from now nobody will laugh at a comparison of Watkins and Cobb.

"GEORGE IS A swell straightaway hitter, but he can do everything else up at the plate. He's an improved fielder. He's fast as lightning on his feet and between the ears, and he can stretch singles into doubles and doubles into triples more consistently than any other man in the majors today.

"Watkins has some of Cobb's fiery aggressiveness. He's a hustling, winning player every second of the time, a fighter who wants to win every game in the first inning and then see how one-sided he can make it in the other eight. Another Cobb, I tell you. Nothing less."

AN OLD GIANT mate to meet up with Doc Crandall, Pirate coach, in the East the other day was Jeff Tesreau, now baseball coach at Dartmouth. Pittsburghers will always remember Tesreau for a performance he gave at Forbes Field in which he came as close as a hurler possibly can to pitching a no-hit game without actually succeeding. Working against Wilbur Cooper on May 16, 1914, Jeff held the Pirates hitless through eight innings and had two men out in the ninth after disposing of Eddie Mensor and Ham Hyatt, but just when a no-hit game seemed a certainty for him, Joe Kelly, Pirate centerfielder, stepped up and snatched it out of his grasp by bouncing a single over second base.

LIKE THE GREAT Man o' War broke the hearts of the horses that raced against him in 1920, Twenty Grand, in the opinion of many turfmen, ruined Jamestown in the Belmont Stakes this year. Jamestown's poor showing in the Shevlin Stakes recently, when he was beaten by two maidens, indicated that he had not recovered from the Belmont defeat.

The Shevlin result also convinced Jamestown's owner and trainer that it would be folly to send him against Twenty Grand in the Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct next Saturday or in the Classic Stakes at Arlington July 18, as they originally planned, so they have withdrawn him and will let him rest up until the meeting at Saratoga Springs.

THE WORLD-WIDE fame he has won as a tennis player, the big money which his racquet skill is bringing to him now through his professional activities and by way of the movies, doesn't mean as much to Bill Tilden as the average outsider believes.

Bill Tilden

In fact, it doesn't mean anything, Tilden says. He'd prefer to be something else. He'd rather be John Barrymore, the great actor, than Bill Tilden, the athlete; he'd rather be John McCormick, the great singer, than Bill Tilden, the great tennis player; he'd rather be Samuel Merwin, the great author, than Bill Tilden, the champion.

"THOSE MEN ARE artists," says Big Bill. "They give something to the world. They contribute something to life. They leave something to the world, something which benefits those who live today and those who are to come. Athletes, I admit, are more widely known, receive more publicity. Yet they do not compare in service to humanity with the artists. At least, I do not believe that I have been contributing anything to humanity in my long tennis career, either as an amateur or as a professional. Some will say that I am wrong. They will point out that an athlete can be a powerful influence on the youth of the world. But I still insist that I'd rather be a great artist and feel that I have accomplished something really worth while."

Bob Graham

The gate is wide open—if you have the skill, grit and determination that goes to make a star golfer, you are welcome to walk in and be crowned king of all amateur junior golfers in Western Pennsylvania at the fourth annual tournament of the Pittsburgh Sun - Telegraph for the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, at the Schenley Park municipal links tomorrow.

No less than 413 boys out of 677 entries have been slated in the pairings, and all of those who present themselves according to schedule will be given an 18-hole medal play opportunity of gaining fame and fortune, the fortunate coming by way of beautiful prizes.

OFFICIALS SET

The officials have been lined up. Headed by Honorary Director John Jay Burke and the other members of an arbitration committee, S. Walter Phillips and Joe Platt, the Golf Tournament Editor will have scattered throughout the links men to check up on all scores.

If at any time a boy be found guilty of a misdeed, he will immediately be disqualified—for ignorance of U. S. G. A. or local rules will not be considered a plausible alibi. Read the rules on the back of your score card to find out the Schenley links penalties. It is especially important that no boy fail in replacing his divots—the most grievous error of them all, in fact, and any boy found not replacing his turf will be automatically put out of the competition.

GRAHAM TO AID

Among those who will be on hand to assist in running the tournament this year will be the Schenley family, Bob Graham, professional; Edmund Onoretta,

MAX FLACK PLAYED ON TWO TEAMS THE SAME DAY—On Decoration Day, 1922, the St. Louis Cardinals played morning and afternoon games in Chicago with the Chicago Cubs. Flack played right field for the Cardinals in the morning game. At noon, Manager Rickey, of the Cardinals, conferred with Manager Veeck, of the Cubs, and the two players were traded. In the afternoon game, Flack showed up in right field for the Cardinals and Heathcote in the same position for the Cubs, Heathcote thus sharing honors with Flack for having played on two teams in the same day.

TOMORROW: A GOVERNOR WHO NEVER SAW HIS PROVINCE.

LONDOS, STEELE IN TITLE GO

NEW YORK, June 29.—The peak of the wrestling renaissance will be reached at the Yankee Stadium tonight when Ray Steele grapples with Jim Londos for the heavyweight title before the biggest crowd ever assembled for a mat classic.

More than 20 years ago, Frank Gotch, a great champion of the old school, and Georges Hackenschmidt, European giant, met at the then White Sox baseball park in Chicago and drew a gate that still stands as a record.

If memory serves correctly, the receipts were around $85,000, but ringside reservations were priced high and the total attendance was not more than 30,000. This record will go by the boards tonight with an attendance estimated at from 40,000 to 50,000 and gate receipts ranging possibly from $110,000 to $140,000.

CURLEY PROMOTER

Jack Curley promoted the Gotch - Hackenschmidt imbroglio, and the same Curley is handling tonight's show as a benefit for the Free Milk Fund for Babies, of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is chairman.

It was Curley who brought the mat game back in New York and developed the big gates that outdrew the boxing shows at Madison Square Garden. The competition developed several challengers, of whom Steele proved the most formidable.

Dean Hurls, Wins Both Games of Twin Bill

FORT WORTH, June 29.—(AP.)—Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, eccentric lefthanded pitcher, who was with the St. Louis Cardinals in spring training, pitched Houston to victory in a doubleheader in the Texas League yesterday.

The former Western League hurler went 16 innings, the second game being a seven-inning contest, and won, 12 to 3 and 3 to 0. The victories eliminated Fort Worth as a contender for the first half of the pennant race, which ends tomorrow, and left Houston and Beaumont as possible champions.

SOCCER REFS ELECT HEADS

BOSTON, June 29.—Officers and directors were elected by the United States Soccer Football Referees' Association at its annual convention, which got under way at the Hotel Kenmore here yesterday.

Gilgane, of New York, was elected president, with McFarland, of Cleveland, O'Connor, of Pittsburgh, and Watson, of Philadelphia, being chosen as vice presidents. Gordon, of Baltimore, was elected treasurer, and Welch, of Cambridge, Mass., secretary.

Johnny Nuen, first baseman of the Boston Braves, and George Hulet, of Pittsburgh, were elected to the board of directors.

ARMOUR EARLY OPEN CHOICE

TOLEDO, June 29.—(AP.)—"On to Inverness" was the cry of the world's master linksmen today as they loaded their favorite war clubs for the blue ribbon show of American golf, the 1931 national open championship.

From scattered sections of the globe they came—146 picked craftsmen of the old Scotch pastime—all fired with the burning ambition to blast their way into the throne room from which the king of golf links, Bobby Jones, so calmly walked out. It was not the largest field in the big show's 37 years, but it looked like the swankiest and the toughest. England made its greatest invasion with a dozen of its finest players; two came from France, one came from Germany, another from the Philippines and the rest of the field was comprised of America's greatest stars.

From past performances and the type of game called for on the Inverness layout, nine Americans and one Briton stood out in the early second guessing as prime favorites to win the crown. Topping them all came Tommy Armour, of Detroit. Armour, rested after his triumph in the British open at Carnoustie, played Inverness several times last week, while most of his British and American rivals struggled through the scorching sun at Scioto in the Ryder Cup matches.

GIRL SPRINTER AIR VICTIM

CHICAGO, June 29.—(AP.)—Betty Robinson, winner of the 100-meter dash for women in the 1928 Olympic games, today lay critically injured—her athletic career probably shattered by an airplane accident.

The 19-year-old Northwestern University student yesterday suffered injuries that at first were believed fatal, when a plane in which she was riding fell from about 400 feet. The plane was piloted by her cousin, Wilson Palmer, who also was critically injured.

Physicians at the Oak Forest Infirmary, where she was taken after the accident, said her condition was critical, but they believed she would recover. They indicated she never would be able to run again.

ZACHARY SET TO HURL FOR BOSTON

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

BOSTON, Mass., June 29.—The Pirates reached Boston this morning, this city to be the last stop on their swing around the eastern end of the National League. Four battles with the Braves are carded for four successive afternoons, the first to be staged today.

Manager Ens, of the Buccos, stated he would throw Remy Kremer at the Tribe this afternoon. Skipper Bill McKechnie will not run far off form if he sends Southpaw Tom Zachary to the slab. The tall veteran of many a fight has been exceptionally severe to the Pittsburgh club since he came over from the American League.

The Pirates pulled farther away from the yawning cellar as they kept free of championship play on the Sabbath. The last place Reds took two on the chin as they competed with the Giants on the Polo Grounds. But there was not much solace for the Pirates in that development.

TRIP DISASTROUS

The Buccos realize they are engaging in one of the most disappointing eastern trips they have experienced in years. So far they have played an even dozen games and they have won the laurel only three times. Needless to state, they will try to turn the tables while they are in Boston.

The Braves, on the other hand, have been doing big things. They made things very miserable for the Cubs yesterday in two games. They copped the first contest and held the Bruins to a tie in the last game which ended in a deadlock on account of the Sunday law.

It would be a big feather in Bill McKechnie's cap were he to bring home the Braves in the first division. When the Wilkinsburg citizen took charge of the Tribe last season they were almost the unanimous choice for last place, but McKechnie made things hum as his club won almost half

M.-A. LEAGUE LEADERS WIN

The Charleston Senators are successfully fighting off the efforts of three other clubs to wrest the leadership of the Middle Atlantic League away from them by the simple procedure of winning fairly consistently.

Yesterday, the Senators nosed out Huntington, 3 to 2, in a game in which the losers committed six errors. Meanwhile, Cumberland, Fairmont and Beckley, second, third and fourth place clubs, respectively, scored triumphs.

Cumberland defeated Charleroi, 6 to 0, Tamulis hurling a four-hit game. Fairmont remained in third position by beating Johnstown, 5 to 3, and Beckley socked Clarksburg, 5 to 1. Each of the latter teams made four errors.

Parkersburg was initiated into the league, the West Virginia city having taken over the Hagerstown franchise. The team split a double bill with Scottdale, winning, 3 to 0, after losing, 5 to 3.

Altoona nosed out Wheeling, 4 to 2, in the remaining game on the card.

SUTTER WINS TITLE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 29.—(AP.)—Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans, yesterday won the men's singles championship in the tri-state tournament, defeating Donald Cram, Nashville, 6-0, 6-3, 6-3.

CHICAGO, June 29.—That mortgage the A's had on first place is liable to be foreclosed any day now, and over in the National circuit the Cards had better raise more margin if they want to hang on to their preferred stock. Your Uncle Nick has never tried to read the stars except on brandy labels but he will bet a carbuncle to a pimple that there'll be a new leader in at least one of the leagues when the July Fourth doubleheaders are played. Right now our Washington team is going like a house afire in a 70-mile gale and when Connie Mack's pitching staff runs out of miracles Connie will get wrinkles to take their place.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

Local boxing fans are set for two big professional shows within three nights, beginning tonight, when the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, presents Jackie Rodgers, local Negro featherweight with a wallop, against Chico Cisneros, Mexican, in the 10-round windup. On Wednesday, one night earlier than usual, because of the Schmeling-Stribling heavyweight title fracas in Cleveland, which will be attended by many local fans, Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, meets the undefeated Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, in the piece de resistance at Hickey Park, Millvale.

Jackie Rodgers

Interspersed between these shows are a wrestling card at Hickey Park tomorrow night and amateur boxing battles at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C. outdoor arena tonight and at German Masonic Hall, North Side, tomorrow night.

NATURAL RETURN MATCH

Considerable interest is being shown in the Rodgers-Cisneros melee because of the fact that it represents Rodgers' first appearance in these parts in three months and in meeting the Mexican he will be taking on a youth who handed him a thorough beating in a six-round battle in Cleveland in the interim.

The fans will have to be convinced that Rodgers can be so readily beaten by a youngster and will be out to see how it was accomplished, or, on the contrary, how Rodgers can turn the tables. It is a natural rematch.

Marty Gornick, that sterling young lightweight prospect, of Whitaker, who has won the favor of the fans with his good boxing and straight, effective punching in recent weeks, will be in the eight-round semi-final spot, opposed to Harry Fine, rugged young Jewish mixer, of the Hill. Andy Andrucci, East End Italian, returns to the ring after quite a layoff to battle Benny Goldbatt, formerly of Chicago, now of Pittsbrugh, in the second bout, and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, and Jackie Wilson, East End Negro bantamweight, are in the opener at 8:45.

Between Rounds

Buck McTiernan and other local boxers are doing their conditioning in the Salvation Army gymnasium in Second avenue and the Pittsburgh Lyceum, now that Ross gymnasium, in the East End, is closed.

The Maxie Rosenbloom-Billy Jones repeat non-title bout in the Philadelphia outdoor Arena tonight commands much local attention from the angle that Jones, a Negro, is a Pittsburgh product and defeated Rosenbloom in their first meeting, Billy's only local appearance, at Motor Square Garden during the recent indoor season.

Some wondrous tales are being spun about Red (Flaming Youth) Lyday, Columbus middleweight, who recently has joined the local colony. He is reputed to be a terrific hooking puncher, with a long string of knockout victims in Ohio, and he fairly exudes color in his every action. He'll be seen in action here within the next few weeks.

LONDOS RISKS MAT TITLE

year ago, matched their wits, strength and endurance for more than an hour. Steele was the aggressor as they went into the second hour and apparently had the champion almost exhausted when the tables were suddenly turned.

Londos had been thrown about the ring and at last came up slowly and wearily and braced his back against the sagging ropes. Across the ring came Steele like a cat springing on a mouse. He closed in and leaped to fasten a head hold on Londos.

STEELE STUNNED

As his feet left the floor, Londos shoved out blindly with both arms and his hands caught Steele under the chin, upended him, and dropped him heavily to the floor. As he lay there, half stunned and breathless, Londos fell on him and pressed his shoulders to the mat.

Steele says he will not make that mistake again. He expects to go a long route again tonight, for he knows that Londos has trained for endurance. However, the challenger has a theory that a long and arduous winter campaign has taken a certain toll from the champion. He believes he can outlast Londos.

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 29.—(AP.)—Stanislaus Loayza, veteran Chilean lightweight, knocked out Gallardo Purcaro, of the Argentine, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round fight here last night. Loayza weighed 139, Purcaro 137.

BOUT MAY HIT $400,000

CLEVELAND, June 29.—(AP.)—The Stribling-Schmeling world's heavyweight championship fight, dedicating Cleveland's new $3,000,000 municipal stadium next Friday night, will be no million-dollar affair, but if it draws $400,000 there will be no wails of protest from the promoters.

This was indicated today when officials of the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Ohio declared they would be "extremely satisfied" if the gate receipts hit the $400,000 mark. Figures revealed for the first time showed $176,000 in cash already in the bank, with $89,000 to be added in reservations certain to be picked up.

Although the advance sale is actually $176,000, the total advance, counting the reservations, amounts to $263,000, thus assuring financial success for the fight. The promoters hope to dispose of another $150,000 worth of tickets between today and Friday.

If the fight draws $300,000 which it already seems assured the Madison Square Garden Corporation will have a profit of approximately $51,000. Stribling and Schmeling will get 52½ per cent, with the champion receiving 40 per cent of this amount. The sum of $22,000 will be paid to the city for the rental of the stadium and $14,000 will be spent in providing preliminaries. The corporation will also spend $13,000 in installing seats and another $40,000 in promotion.

four sets, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 while Perry disposed of John Van Ryn, the third American in the quarter-finals, in the only straight-set victory, 6-4, 8-6, 7-5.

Shields and Borotra meet Wednesday in the lower half of the draw while Wood plays Perry.

SHIELDS EXTENDED

Playing on the famous center court with 12,000 persons in the stands, Shields fought a gallant, uphill fight to eliminate the hope of England. The English stands groaned when Austin cracked in the fifth set at a time when the score stood within one point of set and match for the Englishman.

Mrs. L. A. Harper and Mrs. John Van Ryn, American stars who were eliminated from Wimbledon singles play Saturday, began their campaign for the doubles title today with a first round victory over the Misses Alexander and Watson, of England, 6-4, 6-3.

LOTT, PARTNER WIN

George Lott and Mrs. Harper won from C. G. Eames, of England, and Miss Goldschmidt, of France, 6-1, 6-8, 6-0, in the mixed doubles.

H. G. N. Lee and Phyllis Mudford, Great Britain, defeated Nat Farquharson, South Africa, and Helen Jacobs, U. S. A., 17-15, 6-1.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. C. Michell, Great Britain, defeated J. W. Nuthall, Great Britain, and Mrs. John Van Ryn, U. S. A., 5-7, 6-3, 6-1.

British Cup Stars Win In Detroit

DETROIT, June 29.—(AP.)—The British Ryder Cup team defeated a team of Michigan professional golfers at the Hawthorne Country Club course yesterday by a score of 8 to 7.

The Britons took a long lead in the first three matches, but Walter Hagen, teamed with Al Watrous, sank a 20-foot putt on the eighteenth hole to halve their match with Syd Easterbrooke and W. H. Davies. Jimmy Zeller and Nick Webber, playing against E. R. Whitcombe and Arthur Havers, then came in with three points to add to the Michigan men's score.

MISS SULLIVAN AND HASELTINE NET CHAMPS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The David I. McCahill Trophy, for the past three years symbolic of district men's singles net supremacy, is leaving Pittsburgh for another twelvemonth. To the Quaker City will the coveted flagon be expressed as soon as engravers can inscribe upon it the name of William P. Haseltine, 20-year-old Philadelphia lad, who yesterday trimmed Sam Harbison, star of Princeton and Sewickley, in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3, to put climax to the forty-third annual Western Pennsylvania tennis championship at the Stanton Heights Golf Club. Haseltine, captor of the bowl in 1930, thus garners a second leg upon the coveted container; another win for him will make it his for good.

MISS SULLIVAN WINS

But if the McCahill vase must depart hence, measure of consolation remains for local net fans in the fact that the Honus Wagner women's singles cup, annexed in 1929 and 1930, respectively, by Mrs. Martha Guthrie Snowdon and Dorothy Jarvis, Sewickley luminaries, has returned to Pittsburgh proper. Miriam Sullivan, P. A. A. ace from St. Mary's College at Notre Dame, assured home possession of the Wagner urn with 6-3, 3-6, 6-3 decision over Helen Carson. Miss Sullivan later returned to the rectangles and in company with Ruth Downey, her Chicago partner, likewise a St. Mary's girl, won the women's doubles crown in hectic 8-6, 6-4 combat with Sana Mauronseff and Mrs. Iris du Toit, accomplished Wilkinsburg combine.

Men's dual honors also remain in the Steel City. Drs. Dave O'Loughlin and Billy McEllroy rejoined forces to bag the laurels, Billy Ramsay and B. F. Arkle, Uniontown-Wheeling pair, suffered reversal, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. Miss Carson and her fellow-Greensburger, the redoubtable "Tack" Hammer, perennial Westmoreland County premier, resumed places on the mixed doubles throne vacated by them a year ago, a 6-2, 6-3 success over the hard-hitting Edgewood duo, Dolly Harris and Leonard Reed, winding up their title quest.

CHAMP CONSISTENT

Two outstanding factors contributed to the win of the modest Haseltine over the more dashing Harbison—consistency and composure. The summary:

MEN'S SINGLES

WOMEN'S SINGLES

Semi-final round—Ramsay and Arkle defeated Dr. John I. O'Loughlin and Raul Barber, 4-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1; McEllroy and D. L. O'Loughlin defeated Burgwin and M. Reed, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Final round—McEllroy and D. L. O'Loughlin defeated Ramsay and Arkle, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES

BURKE'S PLAY PRAISED BY JONES

By BOBBY JONES
National Amateur and Open Golf Champion

COLUMBUS, O., June 29.—At the conclusion of two very interesting days of golf over the Scioto Country Club layout here, the American professional team has regained possession of the Ryder Cup until it is competed for again in Great Britain, two years hence. In every respect, it was a great match. The course was testing and in perfect condition; the crowds of spectators were enthusiastic, but well conducted and sporting, and the golf on the whole was quite good.

I think the feature was the play of Billy Burke in the singles on Saturday. I saw quite a bit of the foursome play on Friday and was particularly interested in the match in which Burke and Cox opposed Easterbrooke and Earnest Whitcombe, and Billy did not do any too well then. He played well, all right, but he did not play so well as he can. But Saturday was another story, and Billy thoroughly deserved the generous compliment which his defeated opponent, Archie Compston, paid him. Archie said he never had seen a man so uncannily straight from tee to green as Burke. His 71 in the morning was a thing of beauty, and, in the afternoon, with only one real break, when he holed a putt from the top of the tenth green, he was three under par for 12 holes.

THE SAME HAIG

A whole lot can happen between now and next Saturday, but, when you are thinking of possibles at Inverness, don't forget Burke. The fairways of the Toledo course demanded great accuracy, and Burke has it in great gobs.

I was particularly happy to see that my old friend, Walter Hagen, still is the same old Haig. I had been hearing disturbing rumors to the effect that Walter had become a machine from tee to green and a dud on the putting surfaces. But I watched him a lot, and, if there has been any startling change, I was unable to discover it. Apparently Walter still realizes, as Mr. Bernard Darwin, the eminent English journalist once said he did, that "three of these and one of those make four."

Next in line I think of Sarazen. Some of the others scored better than little Gene, although his 72 was the third best round Saturday morning, but I can't help thinking that he is the most interesting player to watch of the whole lot. The very things which make him so attractive from a spectator's point of view, his reckless daring and the impatience he shows in the face of the slightest delay, probably are his greatest trials in a 72-hole stroke competition. But out here he was socking the ball right on the nose with his wood clubs and handling the little delicacies around the green in a masterly way. If I could go out to watch one man all day for my own entertainment, I should pick Gene every time. With him there are no dramatics and no unnecessary fiddling around. He plays every shot for all it is worth, and, while sometimes he encounters trouble, the pin or the green always has a run. No one ever could accuse him of being overcautious.

NEW BALL HANDICAP

I saw the British boys play a lot of very fine shots. I think that, in spite of their vehement and very commendable protestations to the contrary, the larger ball did handicap them somewhat. There was a very good breeze blowing through Friday afternoon and all day Saturday, and the new ball behaved exceedingly well so far as control was concerned. The matter of direction in the face of the wind, in fact, appeared not to worry either side, and it seemed to me that the whole thing was a demonstration that the ball was quite as easily played in the wind as the old one.

BRUELLS WIN MAX'S CUP

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., June 29.—The Bruells, of Cleveland, proved too good for the Pittsburgh German Soccer Club in the final round of the Schmeling soccer cup competition, defeating the Steel City eleven, 3 to 1, in a hectic game played under a scorching sun here yesterday. Max Schmeling, donor of the trophy and world heavyweight champion, kicked off to start the game.

The game was nip and tuck for 15 minutes. Eicher, of the Pittsburgh team, defeated Bumby from close in with a good drive. Jimmy Russell, Ohio's veteran halfback, was playing a sterling game, and it was the work of Russell that led to Griffith's scoring the equalizer.

The half-time score was 1-1. In the second half the Pittsburgh defense cracked and Dickey and O'Donnell added further goals for the Buckeyes. The lineup:

Fire Burns Barns At North Randall

CLEVELAND, June 29.—(AP.)—Fire at the George Tipling stable at North Randall race track, where grand circuit racing is to open this afternoon, caused damage estimated by firemen at nearly $20,000 early today.

Joseph Gleason, 55, said to live in North Randall, and believed to have been asleep in the barn, was rescued by firemen. He was near death in the hospital. Lieut. Edward Reif, 27, of Warrensville Heights, and V. A. Newport, 22, both volunteer firemen, suffered painful burns in leading some of Tipling's horses to safety.

Fire Chief Elmer Taylor, of Warrensville Heights, blamed a carelessly tossed cigaret for the fire. All the horses were removed to safety.

MACKS DEFEAT TIGERS TWICE; YANKS COP

Associated Press.

The Brooklyn Robins, who surprised National League fandom by their splendid showing last season, have had a hard time since then trying to live up to the predictions made about them. Apparently strengthened by off-season trades, the Robins were expected to jump right into the thick of the pennant race, but instead they started off badly and have only recently begun to show what they really can do.

Just about two weeks ago, the Robins began to hit their best stride. Since then they have lost only one game and that was a "hard luck" contest which went to the St. Louis Cardinals despite Dazzy Vance's three-hit pitching.

CARDS WALLOPED

The Robins were the ones who looked like champions yesterday as they easily trounced St. Louis, 10 to 4. Ancient Adolfo Luque gave 10 hits and kept them from doing any harm and thus became the seventh Brooklyn pitcher to go the route in 10 weeks.

The defeat cut the Cards' margin to 1½ games before the start of a series with the second place New York Giants. The New Yorkers clouted the Cincinnati Reds for a double victory yesterday, winning the first game 17 to 5 behind a 21-hit attack and rallying for four runs in the sixth inning to take the second clash 5 to 2.

The Boston Braves completed their conquest of the Chicago Cubs by slamming out a 9-to-1 victory in the first half of a doubleheader while Ed Brandt pitched a seven-hit game to score his tenth victory of the season. Wally Berger provided the second game feature as the Braves came from behind to earn a 2-2 tie just before the Sunday 6 o'clock law halted the game. He started two double plays from center field.

BROWNS WIN EIGHTH

The St. Louis Browns continued their amazing winning streak in the American League by taking two 5-to-4 decisions from the Boston Red Sox. It gave them a record of eight straight victories and 11 in their last 12 games.

Philadelphia's Athletics increased their margin over Washington to two and one-half games by winning two games from Detroit while the Senators could get only an even break in two mound duels with the Chicago White Sox. Roy Mahaffey held the Tigers to five hits to win the first game for the A's, 9 to 1, while George Walberg gave them only four to gain a 5-to-1 victory in the second. Al Thomas, of Chicago, bested Bob Burke, of Washington to win, 2 to 1. The Senators used some Chicago errors for a start toward a 3-1 triumph in the second game as Brown and Crowder held the Sox to four hits.

Babe Ruth hit his seventeenth home run, and Ben Chapman stole his twenty-eighth base for the New York Yankees, and the combination helped considerably to bring a 9-to-5 victory over Cleveland.

Bell Wins Southern New York Title

Declines of 2 to 6 Points Appear on Quiet Trading; Losses Cover Wide Range

NEW YORK, June 29.—(AP.)—The stock market backed up a little in quiet trading today, as Wall street took time to consider how far the advance of the past seven sessions had gone toward bringing values into line with the more cheerful sentiment which has swept the financial markets.

Declines of about 2 to 6 points appeared as traders took profits on the theory that the advance may have been a little too rapid. In contrast to an almost steady decline in Wall street, the European markets had intervals of strength, but showed narrow changes at the close.

Although trading was quiet the decline was broad, embracing a wide range of coppers, steels, rails, chemicals, utilities and miscellaneous shares.

The action in the copper issues was in the face of a further increase of ¼ of a cent a pound, bringing the price up to 9 cents, a gain of a full cent in the past week.

While Wall street awaited developments from Paris, bankers pointed to further pressure against the German mark as indicative of the need for speedy action. The Reichsbank has experienced a further seepage of reserves, both Saturday and today. The $100,000,000 co-operative credit, however, is expected to take care of the July 1 credit requirements, and Federal Reserve authorities explained that if further credits are needed the New York Federal Reserve Bank might make further purchases of Reichsbank acceptances.

Despite the sharp reductions of dividends by American companies, Wall street estimates the mid-year interest and dividend payments, much of which will be met this week, at between $800,000,000 and $900,000,000. The money market nevertheless, showed no important signs of stiffening. Call money was available at concessions from the official rate of 1½ per cent.

President 'Too Busy' For Silver Problem

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Due to the time being taken up by consideration of debt postponement proposals, it is doubtful if anything can be done at present relative to the silver situation, Senator Smoot (Rep.), Utah, said after a visit to the White House. He did not contemplate any congressional opposition to the debt plan and said there would be no necessity for an extra session to ratify it.

Silk, Cocoa Join Commodities Rise

NEW YORK, Jne 29.—Silk opening today was 3 to 7 points higher, with futures at new highs.

Cocoa prices on the New York Cocoa Exchange advanced 34 to 37 points, due principally to short covering by European interests and buying by Wall street houses.

Argentine Wheat Acreage Reduced

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Department of Agriculture announces the Argentine wheat acreage is 10 to 30 per cent below last year, but states that it is too early to give definite information.

Jugoslavia Discount Rate Raised to 6½%

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, June 29.—(AP.)—The official discount rate was raised from 5½ to 6½ per cent and the loan interest rate was increased from 7 to 8 per cent.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 29.—Cotton opened steady today, 18 to 29 points lower. July contracts sold off to 9.90c and December to 10.52c during the first few minutes, making net losses of about 23 to 31 points on the active months, but offerings were absorbed on this setback and the market rallied partly. At the end of the first half hour July was selling at 10.00c and December 10.62 or 13 to 20 points below Saturday's closing quotations. December contracts advanced to 10.66, or within 9 points of the previous close. July and later months were slower in advancing, however, and the bulge was not fully maintained with prices at midday ruling around 10.00 for July and 10.61 for December, or 15 to 26 points net lower.

This compares with net income of $2,142,896, equal to $2.98 a share on the preferred and after allowing for only the regular dividend requirements on the preferred, to 78 cents a share on 828,395 shares of common in the first five months of 1930. TRADE UPTURN LOOMS, RALLY CONTINUES

Hoover's Dramatic Proposal For Debt Truce Credited; 'Buy Now' Drives Urged

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, June 29.

Under political leadership, the "managed rally" was carried distinctly further last week. Stock prices recovered most of the ground lost since early in May.

The electrifying effect of President Hoover's debt proposal went beyond the securities markets and firmed up prices of highly deflated commodities, especially those like copper and cotton, which figure in international trade, especially trade with Germany. From a strictly financial, non-political viewpoint, it should be borne in mind that the markets were in a technically over-sold condition, and that, if one dramatic event had not touched off the flames, another excuse would have been found.

Mr. Rukeyser

SHARP UPTURN LOOMS

From a scientific economic viewpoint, it would be well to take advantage of the reversal of business sentiment to apply sound anti-depression remedies on all fronts. I have in mind such projects as vastly increased federal and private corporate spending on permanent improvements, and further maneuvers by the banking authorities to drive loafing deposits in banks into the bond market.

Business is now at a thoroughly deflated stage where sentiment can be a determining influence.

Inventories throughout the land are distinctly subnormal, and the course of trade will turn sharply upward as soon as enough executives are convinced that there is less risk in buying at prevailing prices than in watchful waiting.

This is also true of individuals.

GOOD TIME TO BUY

Many with hoarded funds have been waiting to buy postponable intermediate goods until assured that the worst of the depression was over.

It is a good time for folk to make repairs on their homes, to repaint their houses, and to make durable purchases which they have long been considering. Such timing of personal transactions will not only benefit the buyer, who takes advantage of a cheap market, but will also relieve the terrific strain of unemployment, which should not be forgotten merely because the ticker wheels have begun to move in the other direction.

Wheat Committee To Meet Shortly

LONDON, June 29.—(AP.)—The standing committee named to consider further the feasibility of reconvening the conference of wheat exporting nations will meet the second week in July, it was announced today.

The object of the meeting, as outlined by the wheat conference last month, is to consider ways and means of interchanging authentic information concerning wheat and to endeavor to arrive at a program suitable for the adoption of exporting nations upon which a second wheat conference might be called.

New York Bank Sees Trade Gain

NEW YORK, June 29.—Although no definite improvement has yet become visible, there is some basis for the growing belief that the lowest level of depression has been seen or will be seen in the very near future, and that some degree of tangible recovery should manifest itself during the second half of the year, the Guaranty Trust Company of New York says in its monthly review of business and finance.

Installment Sales Volume Declines

NEW YORK, June 29.—The volume of installment sales this year has been only slightly lower than 1930, while reports from leading finance companies indicate that the percentage of delinquencies and repossessions in the early part of the current year actually declined as compared with the corresponding period last year, a review issued by the New York Stock Exchange firm of Dominick & Dominick, says.

BOARD SEEKING WHEAT PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The Farm Board decision as to its wheat holdings is expected by tomorrow. President Hoover wants the board to agree to hold its wheat off the market for a stated period. The question before the board resolves itself into trying to find a way to please those demanding assurance that the wheat holdings will not be sold in competition with the new crop without at same time restricting the board's freedom too much. Should a big buyer who could not pay cash come into the market the board might sell on credit, whereas the grower could not, since he would have to receive cash.

A promise by the Farm Board to hold stabilization wheat off domestic markets for a year is favored by the National Grange while it pushes for passage of the debenture plan as a means of removing the surplus.

Fred Brenckman, Washington representatives of the grange, said today studies of the situation are now under way and the debenture will be pushed in the next Congress more strongly than ever.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 29.—(AP.)—Vice President Charles Curtis has urged the Federal Farm Board to withhhold the Grain Stabilization Corporation's wheat holdings from the market until the price advances to from 85 cents to $2 a bushel at Chicago.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, June 29.—Sharply higher prices for all grains early today resulted from President Hoover's intervention with the Farm Board and from widespread temperatures exceeding 100. Wheat crop damage in Canada and parts of the Dakotas and Montana was reported the worst ever known in regard to the large amount of acreage past recovery. Opening ½ to 1⅛c up, wheat afterward continued to mount. Corn started ⅛ to ⅞c higher and jumped further, with oats almost outdoing the season's top record.

Wall Street Attributes Dividend Surprises To Debt Plan.

It is generally realized that the move of President Hoover for a debt holiday has had considerable effect on sentiment generally, not only in the stock market, but also in business. In this connection, it is the growing belief in Wall street that the dividend surprises in the past week can be attributed to this change. Wall street was confident the Westinghouse Electric and Anaconda dividends would be reduced. The changed sentiment came just before action was to be taken, and the rates were maintained.

The next important development is likely to be in connection with freight rates. Discussions indicate that the most popular impression is the Interstate Commerce Commission will allow tentative advances pending hearings on the application for a general raise of 15 per cent. There is likely to be opposition from some of the shippers during the hearings, but the conservative view is that government officials realize the necessity of early relief for the carriers and will grant it.

Judging from the many comments heard, the tobacco shares are in greater favor as a result of the advance in cigaret prices. Statisticians have been busy compiling estimates as to what the higher prices will mean on the earnings of the leading makers for the remainder of the current year and also for 1932, making allowances for an increase in consumption next year.

If the amazing increase in the opening market value of stocks from the June 2 low can be considered as tantamount to so much expansion in potential buying power, then considerable has been accomplished toward lifting business out of the doldrums. The open market value of all shares listed on the stock exchange on June 2 low levels was just slightly under $40,000,000,000. At Friday's closing with the market showing an advance of approximately 26 per cent from that level, it was indicated that the open market of such stocks then stood around $50,500,000,000. Thus an appreciation of $10,500,000,000 in the value of such securities has been registered in little more than three weeks time. In the meantime the value of cotton has risen by roughly 25 per cent of $10 a bale, corn has appreciated 7 cents a bushel and wheat rules about 4 cents over the recent lows.

There is an old and well proven adage in Wall street that holds "there is nothing like the spectacle of rapidly rising prices to bring the public into the market." The average small trader will not buy stocks when they are weak, but it won't shake off his fears when prices have been pushing consistently forward for a time. And according to the observations of those in commission house circles, the current rise is having the usual effect. The public which hesitated to follow the rise in its early stages, is now endeavoring to get aboard the "bandwagon" in the hope of sharing in any further extension of the advance.

It will be interesting to study the trend of savings bank deposits during the current month when the figures become available some weeks hence. Close students of the situation are of the opinion that the rising trend of such deposits will be subject to abrupt halt in consequence of the sensational turn in the speculative market. The contention in such quarters is that the huge gains in savings deposits recorded in recent months reflected in no small measure the movement of funds from brokerage accounts to the banks, this movement having been influenced by the air of nervousness and anxiety prevalent in the speculative community over a long period. Feeling is that the trend will turn from the banks back to the brokerage offices, as the public finds its way back into the market.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

FLAXSEED OUTLOOK

Present outlook is for a 10 per cent decrease in Northwest flax acreage, compared with last year's harvest, according to Archer-Daniels-Midland Company. The government's original estimate put the decrease at 4 per cent. Recent weather conditions have not been favorable for planting. Like conditions prevail in Canada. Canadian government estimated an increase of 13 per cent in flaxseed acreage. A Winnipeg grain merchandising firm says there is a decrease of 14 per cent indicated. This later estimate is based on dry soil conditions that might be materially changed if good rains come soon. It is probably safe to say that with good rains in 10 days, Canadian acreage would show some increase.

PLANS NEW FACTORY

Southern Alkali Corporation plans the erection of a $10,000,000 plant at Corpus Christi, Tex., according to James C. Kennedy, president of Central and South West Utilities Company. When the plant is running at full capacity, Mr. Kennedy said, it will consume approximately 37,500,000 cubic feet of gas daily, 2,500 tons of salt, 2,500 tons of limestone and great quantities of sulphur, all found in South Texas.

FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS LAG

LONDON, June 29.—(INS.)—Stock prices on the principal stock markets of Europe today failed to maintain the rapid rate of advances which featured last week's trading sessions. The uncertain international political situation had an unsettling influence on all the markets.

On the Berlin Bourse stocks slumped from 6 to 7 points as a result of the uncertainty of the present negotiations in Paris with regard to the Hoover debt moratorium proposal.

On the Paris Bourse the tone was weaker than that which prevailed on Friday. Metals were the one exception. Prices for metals showed a tendency upward.

Meanwhile, Wall street reports said that agreement finally has been reached whereby American production of copper with be further curtailed, with the possibility that the movement may take on international proportions.

The reduction is expected to take the form of cessation of operations at some mines and drastic reduction in the rate of operations at others, in line with moves recently made by some of the higher cost producing units in the west.

DEBT PROGRAM ENCOURAGES MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 29.—(AP.)—Business spirits were lifted from the slough of despond by the world-wide wave of enthusiasm which has greeted the war debt holiday proposal during the past week.

If the actual volume of business activity has failed to respond notably, if the reaction thus far has been largely psychological, it may be pointed out that business and trade are in the grip of the summer lull and the most powerful stimulants administered at this time could scarcely be expected to make themselves decisively felt until the approach of autumn.

COMMODITIES RALLY

Any sudden return to prosperity levels would, in any event, be entirely contrary to past experience with major periods of depression. But there has been a strong feeling among leaders that extremes of pessimism, a sense of utter futility, has been tending to prolong the depression, which has now been bumping bottom for six months.

If indeed, as many competent observers hold, the action of commodity prices holds the key to recovery, it is difficult to say that enthusiasm is being overdone. Since the beginning of June, the general level of commodity prices had shown the most impressive stability in some three months, and the war debt plan prompted a vigorous upturn.

INVENTORIES DEPLETED

Such commodities as copper, zinc, lead, silver, hides and cotton have risen to levels about 7 to 17 per cent above those at the start of the month.

A sustained advance in commodity prices should carry the conviction that the turn toward better times has come at last, after the disheartening false starts. A rush to restore depleted inventories might result from such a conviction. It would perhaps be too much to expect commodity prices to work steadily higher for several months, but stabilization somewhat above the low levels of the depression, in the light of past experience, should permit a steady expansion of business and trade.

Crops in Hungary Suffer From Heat

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 29.—An official grain estimate said that all crops suffered from the intense heat during the past two weeks. The wheat crop was estimated at 1,800,000 tons, compared with last year's yield of 2,300,000 tons.

Rye promised to yield 620,000 tons this year, against 720,000 tons in 1930. Barley and oats were shown to be in fair condition.

Truck Industry Passive on Rail Rate Plea

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP.)—A passive attitude has been maintained by the motor truck interests of the country on the railroads' petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission for higher freight rates.

It has been pointed out in arguments for and against a general rail rate increase that rates of competing services are generally based on all-rail rates and an increase in that base will be reflected in all types of transportation.

Best available information in Washington is that for the time being at least the motors will make no effort to keep their rates in stride with the proposed rise in rail charges. An official of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce believes any increase granted to the rival carriers will result in an increase in motor freight and expand their cruising radius by many miles.

Co-ordination Needed

SOME RAILROADS are considering meeting the present threat of motor competition by a co-ordination of the two services. J. F. Deasy, vice president of the Pennsylvania, in discussing this subject, says:

"If, and where, highway transportation is more efficient and economical than rail transportation, no one has any right to stand in the way, and rail service should give way to highway service. But, if the two can be co-ordinated to produce a better or a cheaper service to the public—and we on the Pennsylvania believe this can be done—then unquestionably that should be our aim."

Rail carriers, generally, believe the competitive issue could be met if the motors would relinquish to the rails their long hauls.

Highway Movement Expands

DISCUSSING THE NEED for good roads, W. R. Smith, president of the American Road Builders' Association, says American private automobiles travel annually 150,000,000,000 miles.

"Everyone demands safety, comfort and convenience," he said, "but there are other benefits. The money profits from good roads are apparent in the increased prosperity of those states and counties that have good roads. Co-operative marketing associations flourish, increasing farm profits, and giving city dwellers fresher produce at lower prices. Isolated sections are moved closer to schools, churches, markets and movies through good roads. The trading area of cities is extended. Profitable tourist travel is encouraged. In North Carolina, following a state road bond issue and general highway improvement, property values increased eight times while values in the whole United States increased four times."

C.-I. LEAGUE RIVALS CLASH

SANDLOT GAMES TODAY

WEST PENN LEAGUE
Community Builders at Martin Club.

C. & I. LEAGUE
Reliance Life at Joseph Horne.

CITY LEAGUE
North Side Buicks at Homewood.
Dormont at Book Shoe.

GREATER PITTSBURGH LEAGUE
Verona at Wally Smith.
Fintex at Mur.

By TOM BIRKS

Followers of the Commercial and Industrial League will spend a delightful evening at the Horne Camp, when Reliance Life, undefeated leader of the C. & I. loop, clashes with Sam Craig's Horne outfit, in the formal opening of the camp season today.

With so much at stake, and the Horne aggregation playing such a great brand of ball, it is expected that a large crowd will make the trip to the camp. Craig is going to pitch Bobby Beitel. Dutch Spencer is slated to work for the Lifers.

HORNES AT HOME

Hornes have played all of games on the road to date. Playing all remaining games at home means the Penn avenue outfit is going to be a tough team to defeat.

Homewood will be fighting for its place in the City League this evening, when the Dalymen hook up with John Dunsky's North Side Buicks at the East End grounds. Homewood is staging a terrific battle with Dormont for league honors. While Homewood is striving to stop the Buicks, Book Shoe will be trying to even up matters with the Dormont nine at Olympia Park.

TITLES AT STAKE

This week is going to see some real struggles in all of the loops, and when next Sunday rolls around, most of the first-half championships should be decided.

Only one game will be staged in the West Penn League, the Community Builders, of Turtle Creek, under the leadership of Ed Walsh, traveling to Garfield Park to meet the Martin club.

Don't forget that any boy who does not appear at the starting point within 10 minutes of the time he is scheduled to start, will be eliminated from the lists. Members of any caddie team not having their full entry blank in, must have a note from the caddiemaster attesting to their age.

Two starters have been added to the pairings. Harry Humphrey, of Glenshaw, and Andy Zywan, of Castle Shannon, will start at 3:25.

Women Stars Down Jones and Cotton

COLUMBUS, June 29.—(AP.)—Bobby Jones, retired emperor of golfdom, was the chief attraction in a mixed foursome exhibition match played for the benefit of charity at the Scioto course yesterday.

He was paired with Henry Cotton, of England, against Miss Helen Hicks, New York, and Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, New Orleans. Given a handicap of a stroke a hole, the women won, 3 up and 1 to play. Bobby shot a 72, par for the course, over which America won the Ryder Cup last week.

DIONYS WINS DERBY

HAMBURG, Germany, June 29.—(AP.)—Dionys, the favorite, was an easy winner yesterday of the sixty-third running of the German Derby. Adrienne was second, Missouri third and Granville fourth. Seventeen horses ran. Dionys, which captured the Elbe prize a few days ago, paid 28 to 10.

WATER TEAM ORGANIZED

BARNEVELT WINNER

LONGCHAMP, France, June 29.—(AP.)—Count Oliver De Rivaud's 3-year-old Barnevelt yesterday captured the Grand Prix de Paris, richest stake of the French racing season. Taxodium was second and Tourbillon, the favorite, third. Thirteen horses started.

VERONA TAKES DUAL BILL

Verona experienced little difficulty in taking both ends of a double bill with Immaculate Heart in the Greater Pittsburgh League yesterday. Verona took the first game, 8 to 1, and then won the second, 6 to 2.

The Homestead Grays won the odd game of the series with the Hilldale club, of Philadelphia, yesterday at Washington, 5 to 2. Josh Gibson, Gray catcher, smacked a home run.

In the North-South League, the North Siders crushed the Jena entry, 8 to 1.

In leading independent tussles, St. Clair Frogs downed the Brown Stars, 6 to 4; Crawfords walloped J. L. Thomas, 12 to 4; Duquesne Steel defeated the Coalers, 5 to 2; DePasquale upset the Reserves, 10 to 1; Snee walloped the Noels, 12 to 2 and Greenfield won over Swissvale, 12 to 10.

Rich Friend Offers to Make Life Easy for Kitty

CHAPTER IV.

Would he like my looks and take me about in a swell foreign car as Dolly was taken about?

Then they came into the room and I was introduced to both men.

The other man was "Maj. Boyden."

He wasn't as young as I had hoped, but he was rather striking in appearance. There wasn't a wrinkle in his dinner suit and he wore it as though he had been born with it on—just like actors and movie society stars. His hair was slightly gray, his face rather florid, but he had a jovial smile and a twinkle in his dark eyes.

"Well—well!" he said, looking me over. "I don't believe you were ever out of doors before."

"If you had been I surely would have seen you and promptly kidnaped you!"

"Haw!" Mr. Malvern said, explosively. "Here's a girl who can blush!"

"Dolly's friend was Forrest Malvern, head of the big General Utilities Corporation, as I learned a little later.

REFUSES DRINK

It was Mr. Malvern who noticed the dissimilarity between Dolly and myself.

"Stand up there together, you two—there. Major—isn't that a picture of perfection?" And Mr. Malvern eyed us as though we were a painting or something.

"The Nordic and the Latin—how happy I could be with either," Mr. Malvern went on.

"Be your age, Forrest, stop that nonsense," Dolly exclaimed hurriedly, stepping away from me. "Come on, let's go places and do things!"

"At this hour? It is scarcely sunset," Mr. Malvern declared. He went out to the kitchenette and brought in some bottles and glasses.

"Ha! He's right at home, Kitty," Maj. Boyden whispered to me as he sat down beside me on the divan.

I had noticed that myself. I didn't know what to say to that.

Synopsis

Through necessity, Katherine Mason works in a department store, yet she holds to the belief that a girl's chief object in life should be to have a good time. She cannot see the sense of marrying Peter Thompson, who loves her, because he is poor. Dolly Hawkins, a flashy friend in the store, has promised to find a "sugar daddy" for her, and the introduction is about to take place.

Now Go On

"Isn't it," I agreed.

They laughed at me when I refused to drink.

"I'll fix you one," Mr. Malvern said, "a kindergarten cocktail."

"Dolly is a pretty kid all right, but I wouldn't swap you for a roomful like her," the major said in a low voice, putting his hand over mine.

"You couldn't — you don't happen to own me, so how could you swap me?"

"You know what I mean—and I live in hopes."

He patted my hand. I was wondering just what he meant. He had known me 15 minutes and was already saying he hoped to own me.

VISITS NIGHT CLUB

It was my first night out on what I thought then was a real party. As it was only a quarter after 10 we piled into Mr. Malvern's big car and went to a theater. To my surprise we went to the stage door. Everyone seemed to know the Major. We went around in some way and I saw that we had gone into an upper box just as the curtain was going up on the last half of a big musical revue.

In one of the scenes where the girls posed in big silver roses and wore scarcely anything at all the Major leaned over to me.

"Not a girl there as beautiful as you, my dear," he whispered.

"Don't you get tired of saying that to a different girl every night?" I answered.

"I happen to mean it, Kitty—and let me tell you, that is where you ought to be instead of—was it in a store Dolly said you worked?"

"Yes—and I intend to keep on working there. I wouldn't come out like that—"

He pinched my arm and laughed.

From there we went to a night club, one of the exclusive sort that I had read about but never expected to see.

It was fun. I enjoyed the crowd, I had a little champagne, I danced with the major and also with Mr. Malvern. We had a wonderful dinner and the show there was immense.

"Don't be goofy," Dolly said to me in the rest room. "Don't stare around so. Pretend it bores you."

"But I'm crazy about it—why should I pretend?"

"Kitty, you are so simple sometimes—don't let these rich babies think they can entertain us and thrill us with just a night club—make 'em believe the only way they can give us a thrill is with a nice car and some diamonds!"

It was 3 o'clock when we started for home.

The major wanted to take me home in a taxi, but Dolly nudged me and shook her head. Finally he left, promising to see me soon. Dolly and Mr. Malvern left me at my door.

WEEKLY PARTIES

It took me hours to get to sleep. I was so excited over it all. I had never realized, even in reading about such gay evenings, that they could be like that. Those men must have spent hundreds of dollars.

"That's my idea of playing around and getting real fun out of life," I muttered to myself as I tossed about trying to sleep.

On Monday I told Molly about it.

"Sure—why not?" was all she said.

Dolly became chummy. She insisted that I stay with her Monday night, and I did, after I had her home for dinner.

We talked for hours before going to sleep.

"I'm simply crazy about Forrest," she confessed.

"I suppose you'll marry him, Dolly?"

"Try and stop me," she declared, with emphasis. "But Maj. Boyden is a swell party all right, he's even richer than Forrest. Know how we got into the theater box that way?"

"He owns that theater building! Be good to him, Kit, and he'll load you down with diamonds and things—that's his style, he's awfully generous."

After a while she said, without the subject being brought up at all, "Forrest Malvern is crazy about me, too. Lots of girls have tried to get him away from me, but he only laughs at them."

I wondered if she was trying to hint to me that I mustn't try to get him away from her.

For weeks I never missed a Saturday night party. I always went with Major Boyden, once went alone and the rest of the time Dolly and Mr. Malvern were with us.

Peter called every Sunday as usual and talked about his progress in the plumbing trade and how much he'd be making soon, always insisting that it wouldn't be long before we'd be married and living in our own little apartment.

I didn't wake him up. I let him dream on, but all the time I was thinking that I could not see myself slaving away, a poor man's wife all my days, when I could always have plenty of rich friends to give me a gay time.

A GENEROUS OFFER

One Saturday night Dolly said she had a headache and Mr. Malvern said he would take her home. We danced until around two, and the Major suggested that we stop in and see how Dolly was. He said that Mr. Malvern expected us and would be there.

"Well, well, I'll bet they stopped off at Malvern's quarters for a few minutes," the major said. "I'll scout up something to drink."

He began telling me what beautiful bachelor quarters Mr. Malvern had. He shifted from that to the show and then to talk about Dolly's apartment.

"Kit, you little golden-haired angel, it's a crime for you to slave away in a store." He declared, putting an arm about me and drawing me closer.

I explained about my home and why I had to work.

"That can be easily taken care of, precious. I want you, you must know that. I can give you the finest home, a car and chauffeur—everything—and I'll take care of your people far better than you ever could."

"Honestly, Major?" I asked.

"Honestly, Precious, I can give you everything—I promise to make your life just one grand, gay party!"

(What is Kitty's answer to the seemingly generous proposal of the Major? Read tomorrow's fine installment.)

DAILY SHORT STORY

Nugatory Nancy

Benevolent Act Alters Man's Opinion of Girl

If you are a narrow-minded old grouch you will picture Nancy as being a girl with a scarcity of morals, a believer in free and indiscriminate love, a gin addict, and what-not, along those lines.

If you regard the word "modern" in the sense of not being old-fashioned you will picture Nancy as being annoyingly gay, slangy, frivolous and scatter-brained with no thoughts as to the serious side of life.

Nancy had morals good enough for any girl. She loved laughter and dancing and parties. She could shake up a tolerable cocktail and had her favorite brands of cigarets. She enjoyed light talk and avoided anything tending to seriousness.

When Mortimer Preston came to Hopedale and bought and rebuilt, furnished and had the grounds landscaped, he moved to Hilltop and installed his invalid mother there. Nancy Nelson wasn't at all thrilled.

She hadn't seen Mortimer.

She had been through the Justin mansion after it was rebuilt, furnished, and the grounds landscaped, and she realized that Mortimer Preston, whoever he might be, certainly had oodles of money or else his mother had.

NANCY IMPRESSED

Hopedale folks got their information from Judge Sturgis, who knew the Prestons in Philadelphia and was their legal representative in Hopedale.

"And where in ever do you pick up such words as 'monicker,'" Nancy's mother asked.

Then Nancy met Mr. Mortimer Preston, or at least she saw him.

She was in the Browse-a-Bit Booke Shoppe when this man came in.

"Shades of Adonis, look at the answer to a maiden's prayer," Nancy hissed to Phyllis. "Did you ever see anything like that outside of a picture book?"

"Nice? Perfect, superperfect."

The man bought a number of books.

Nancy heard him talking. She liked his voice—musical, strong, and full of expression. Even when he handed little Miss Warner a slip and said: "You will save all of the magazines on this list for me, weekly or monthly, as the case may be," his words sounded arresting, interesting to Nancy.

"Yes, Mr. Preston," little Miss Warner promised.

AFTER HIM

The man went out. Nancy saw him get spryly into a little roadster and go away. She ran to little Miss Warner.

"Is he Mortimer Preston?" Nancy asked.

"Yes, he buys books and magazines for his mother. I'm awful glad he has come to Hopedale. He's going to be such a nice customer."

"I'm glad you're glad; so am I," said Nancy.

Phyllis and Nancy went to the Twilighte Tea Shoppe for some ices. A great many places in Hopedale were "shoppes." Over an orange sherbet and cold tea and lemon they discussed Mr. Mortimer Preston, or, at least, Nancy talked about him.

"I like my Freddy," Phyllis answered.

"Somehow the name Mortimer doesn't seem so silly, now that I've seen him, and I like the name."

"You can call him 'Mort,' Nancy, for you'll be acquainted with him before midnight I'm betting."

"No, I like Mortimer better. Mort means dead and this eyeful of male loveliness is no dead one. What shoulders he has—and strong hands—and the way his hair waves—"

"Slim, too, not an ounce of fat, and his eyes are wide apart and clear and his chin is strong without being pugnacious. I liked the shape of his ears, too, and the shape of his head and everything."

"All right. I get you, but listen to me, baby Phyllis, I've got my eyes on this nice man and he's going to be my nice man!"

"He will if you say so. I know you," Phyllis agreed.

Nancy's kid brother, Mert, who was 15, was talking eagerly with Mortimer down at the drug store one day when Nancy came in. She heard Mortimer saying to her brother, "We'll try the white water up above the lake some day, Mert."

"Gee, I wouldn't be afraid, with you, Mr. Preston—"

He saw Nancy.

"Hey, Nancy," Mert shouted, "this is him—I mean, Mr. Preston. We're going canoeing up in the white water."

After that Nancy met him in many places. She was a duffer at golf but a Spartan at dancing.

All through the remainder of the summer she saw but little of him. In the winter she met him at a number of parties.

Mortimer Preston was pleasant. He danced with her, but that was all. And this was a blow to Nancy, for heretofore she had only to beckon her finger and almost any man would come running.

At the Prof. Rawson party in the spring, the last of the season, there was a large gathering. Nancy was gayer than ever and seemed to have a silly streak on. She tried to kid with Mortimer Preston, she danced wildly, she got somewhat flushed on cocktails and smoked innumerable cigarets. She tried to get him laughing at some fairly pointed double-meaning stories, but he only smiled politely.

UNCOMPLIMENTARY

It was when she was taking a glass of punch to old Mrs. Lawrence that she saw Mortimer and Prof. Rawson talking by the sun parlor fernery. Nancy stood stock still.

"—of the age, they mean nothing alarming," the professor was saying.

"She may be sunshine to some, but to me she is just nugatory," Mortimer Preston said coldly. He moved a little and Nancy went on with the drink to the old lady.

"Having no worth or meaning; insignificant, useless."

It was June and she was coming down the Hopedale River in a canoe from the Rawson camp. Nancy was alone. At the island bend she passed through the narrows and saw Mortimer Preston on the island camp doorstep trying to bandage his foot. She could see many crimson cloths.

Without a word she put in, hauled up her canoe and went to him. He watched her coming with irritation.

"I see you, bloody cloths and an ax and I use my gigantic brain to figure out that you have had an accident, Mr. Preston," Nancy said. "Let me see—you've got a clumsy bandage there."

"I'm all right, thanks."

"You think you are. You haven't stopped the bleeding. Here, don't roll your pants leg. Slit the leg. Now I'll make a tourniquet."

FIRST AID

She did. She scraped lint from linen. She washed out the severe cut with salt and an iodine solution found in the camp. Then she bandaged it properly. After that she took the ax and went out and cut a very fair sort of a crutch.

"On the bunk for you for a while," she ordered, helping him and removing his other shoe. "When did you get here?"

"A couple hours ago. Now if you'll go down and get Dr. Welling and have a big car come up—"

"Cars can't get here and you're not able to risk a canoe down the white water. Moreover, you are hungry."

Nancy took his fishing tackle and soon had some large white perch. She dressed them deftly. She rummaged through the supplies and found prepared biscuit flour and potatoes and bacon. Also coffee.

The white perch, broiled with bacon, the potatoes and biscuit and coffee were all delicious.

Mortimer began to be faint and sleepy.

In the morning he was aghast. Nancy Nelson was sleeping on a blanket on the floor by the fireplace. She got up and started breakfast and found that he had a fever.

It was three days before she dared leave him to paddle down the white water and telephone his mother that he was all right and bring, or rather send up, aid to get him home.

He telephoned her next day and tried to thank her.

"You cannot mean that I did anything. I'm Nugatory Nancy. I heard you say so yourself!" Nancy hung up on him.

"I came to tell you something," he said. "We're going to be married."

"You wouldn't marry Nugato—"

Mortimer was kissing her, she couldn't complete the sentence. She didn't try to complete it she was too busy returning his kisses.

McArdle for Council

Pittsburgh Will Have a Chance to Serve Itself and to Rectify a Wrong by Electing Him.

P. J. McArdle, a thoroughly honest and capable citizen, has announced his candidacy for City Council. The Sun-Telegraph is for him.

McArdle should be sitting in Council now. He was cheated out of the Republican nomination in the primary election two years ago. The special recount board found fraud in 43 districts, but not until after the general election, which made it too late for court action.

In electing him to Council this year, therefore, the people of Pittsburgh will be rectifying a wrong as well as doing themselves a good turn.

McArdle has a splendid record of public service. He is credited with being chiefly responsible, during his service in Council, for the creation of Morals Court. He played an important part in the construction of the Mt. Washington roadway, the Boulevard of the Allies and Sawmill Run boulevard.

Mine Strikers' Parade

It Is Now Up to Them Not to Abuse the Privilege That the Police Have Accorded Them.

The police have given striking coal miners affiliated with the radical National Miners' Union a permit to parade in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

Communists are not often accorded such a privilege in Pittsburgh, and it is up to them not to abuse it.

The striking miners have real grievances, and they have a right to air them, provided they do so in an orderly manner.

An Impressive Proposal

Any proposal that William A. Magee might make for the betterment of Pittsburgh would deservedly command attention. A lifelong resident and twice mayor of the city, sponsor for the Hump removal and other notable improvements, a keen lawyer and shrewd businessman, he is well qualified to offer sound advice.

Magee proposed in an address at the Beacon Club that Allegheny County, Youngstown, Wheeling and other nearby industrial centers jointly finance the construction of a canal from the Ohio River to Lake Erie. The cost would be somewhere between $65,000,000 and $101,000,000.

It is his belief that the canal, by reducing freight rates, would revive our coal and steel industries and place this region once more in an impregnable position of industrial supremacy.

He believes that except for a couple of years, during the period of construction, the canal would cost the taxpayers nothing, because the tolls charged shippers would be more than enough to pay interest on and establish a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds.

Legal authority for the enterprise exists in all the states concerned, and the borrowing could be done without exceeding the municipal debt limits.

This region has been trying for 40 years, as hard as it could, to induce the United States government to build the canal. Magee thinks we should give up the effort as futile and do the job ourselves. He cites some impressive precedents for the project, notably the railroad that the city of Cincinnati built to Chattanooga to revive its drooping trade.

This region has been trying for many years, as hard as it could, to induce the United States government to order the railroads to give Pittsburgh fair rates on coal shipments to the Great Lakes. This effort, too, has failed. Since 1913 the rate has risen from 88 cents to $1.46 a ton. Our coal shipments have dropped in that period from 20,000,000 to 13,000,000 tons a year, while shipments from distant fields benefited by our high rate have increased from 6,000,000 to 24,000,000 tons.

The coal trade is, of course, but one of a number of local industries to which cheap water transportation to the Great Lakes would be of immense advantage.

Magee's plan sounds good.

It is to be hoped the industrial, commercial and civic leaders of the municipalities which would finance the canal will give the project careful study and raise every objection and ask every question that will test its value and feasibility.

Albumen From Coal

New Use for the Black Diamonds May Be of Considerable Benefit to This Region.

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, will be interested in the announcement of Prof. Wilhelm Gluud, president of the Society for Coal Research, at Bochum, Germany, Friday, that albumen can now be derived synthetically from coal.

And so will the Carnegie Steel Company, the Jones & ghlin Steel Corporation and the Koppers Company, which tract many useful materials from coal in their by-product ovens.

Dr. Baker has called an international conference to meet in Pittsburgh next autumn to discuss the possibility of finding new uses for coal.

Albumen, the white of egg, is edible. With the possibility of deriving an important food from coal demonstrated, an interesting prospect is opened.

New uses for coal may be of considerable benefit to the Pittsburgh district.

A Humane Engineer

Stapleton, Who Stopped Train Rather Than Run Over Baby Woodcocks, Sets Example for Autoists.

The State Game Commission reports that John Stapleton, locomotive engineer, suddenly applied the brakes on a freight train the other day and brought it to a stop rather than run over a flock of baby woodcocks which in some way had got on the track, but were too tiny to climb over the rails.

If motorists were as careful as this railroad engineer—and there is no reason why they should not be—there would be fewer mangled rabbits and other animals in the highways around Pittsburgh. The United Sportsmen's Association asserts more rabbits are killed by careless autoists than by hunters.

It is gratifying to note that the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has decided to give this slaughter on the highways its active attention.

Marry-Go-Round

Reflections of a Tired Business Woman

When a man divorces a woman, it is usually because she started talking the day after the wedding, and never stopped. When a woman divorces a man, it is usually because he went into the silence the day after the honeymoon and never came out.

* * *

Among those who have "delusions of greatness," is the man who marries a modern girl, under the glamorous impression that HE is going to hold the purse strings and occupy the throne-seat around the house.

Many a Tired Business Woman wishes that, like a movie-star, she had a "double," on her off-days, to greet her husband with a merry smile, listen to his alibis, laugh at his jokes, mix his cocktail and sit around all evening and entertain him with bright, snappy chatter.

* * *

Now that curves are definitely fashionable, the woman who has been living on a wisp of toast and a slice of pineapple, for the last few years, will probably begin stuffing herself like a Strasburgh goose, until her near-pearl necklace gets lost among her chins.

* * *

Many a girl, who pretends to be a hard-boiled egg, isn't even a well-done omelet, when it comes to yielding to a man's kisses, and listening to his sweet nothings, under one of these June moons.

Lots of people, who fancy they are laying up treasure in heaven by making life hot for their fellow-sinners, had better be taking out fire-insurance.

* * *

The most puzzling problem, down in every marriageable man's heart, is why he is so fatally irresistible to women. He doesn't realize that, even today, there is no masculine charm which outshines the glitter of a wedding-ring.

* * *

We never thought we should come to see the day, when it would take two divorces to make one marriage.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

No New Thing

There is no new thing under the sun,
These flying summer hours,
The golden noon,
The red bird's tune
Are old as Eden's bowers.

There is no new thing; always men
Have tasted love and laughter,
Have toiled and fought
With little thought
For what might come thereafter.

And women still, as in old days
Down centuries slow-moving,
Have found life best
With babe on breast,
Content with dreams and loving.

No new thing, Sweet, yet can it be
That any pair who wandered
Before us through
Dawn, dusk and dew
Knew bliss like this we've squandered?

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 29.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and breakfasting with Mike and Alice Hogg and fell to wondering the whereabouts of Marie Doro and Viola Allen, the play actresses. Then away to a cheese monger and came upon Betsy Drake and Sadie Murray along the way and exchanged a tittle-tattle of brouhalia.

In the afternoon leaving the heat of the city and driving on the Saw Mill River road and sat under an old oak with my typing machine. And my wife reading her book cried it up as mightily idyllic. Yet what with so many flying insects and the dogs a-barking I got nothing done.

To dinner at the Sherry Netherland with Archie and Eleanor Andrews and Dean and Mildred Cornwell there and later to one of Archie's Trans-Lux movies. And carrying the Cornwells home Dean gave the address as 1111 Park avenue, but with my flair for numbers delivered them to 111 Fifth avenue.

* * *

* * *

The expose of Harlem's policy racket with its so-called policy kings banking millions offered New York a shocking revelation of the hold this form of gambling has on modest wage earners. Called policy, it is known among the players in Harlem as "numbers," and is based on figures in the daily race track receipts. The bets range from 10 cents to a dollar. Every corner in the section has its runner who accepts bets. When the public wins heavily the bankers vanish for a while.

* * *

Waiters in Broadway Chinese restaurants have a proprietary interest in establishments where they are employed. Courtesy is one of their chief attractions. Cesare Ritz once said: "One may forget a poor dinner but never a discourteous waiter."

* * *

* * *

Hollywood is in artistic throes of a film on the life of Sir Walter Raleigh and an anonymous correspondent on Ambassador stationery inquires anxiously if, at that auspicious moment when the cloak is spread for Queen Elizabeth, Sir Walter will chirp: "Step on it, kid!"

* * *

Among exciting moments last week was a call on trained seal and its master. The pair comprise a vaudeville act and are preparing to tour the continent. The trainer was born in Arkansas and at an early age ran away with a circus. The seal during its stage lay-off is kept in a warehouse in West Forty-seventh street where its tank is filled with fresh water daily. I learned a seal is not difficult to train—it usually requires about six months. The mammal is highly imitative and especially enjoys balancing tricks. My Boston with a crazy bravado rushed at the seal but stopped short, utterly puzzled by the lightning zigzagging of its head. Seals, incidentally, are ferocious when attacked.

* * *

The trainer said that on ocean voyages he frequently walked his seal around the deck just as a lark. Ever since I have been thinking a captive seal that near the ocean and freedom must face an agonizing problem in love vs. duty.

* * *

Verne Porter, the well-known old whaler, who is my companion on curious expeditions, was rather mute in presence of the seal, nodding as it went through its stunts. But when it had finished, shuffled off to its tank and dived in with a splash, he cried: "Thar' she blows—and sparm at that!" And went back to sleep.

* * *

I have been trying to "catch" another free animal act which several have written takes place in Gramercy Park every late evening or so. A Pomeranian and a pet squirrel are taken to the park for a romp and they frolic about like two puppies.

* * *

Then there is the fellow in Morningside Heights—the prettiest named section in town, by the way—who writes me he has a goldfish that comes to the surface at intervals and cheeps in a thin tenor. A sissy fish is all that is needed to give me the final push into the padded cell.

RADIO'S SIGNIFICANCE

By Archibald Henderson

With people of a certain non-scientific cast of mind, the triumphs of this marvelous age of science and invention are rated of a low order in cultural value. Such people delight in calling this the machine age, and are ready to deride all mechanical advances as ministering merely to material comfort and efficiency, without enriching the soul. Such people, for the most part, lack the historical sense and a true conception of historical perspective.

No one can deny that the scientific spirit and inventive genius of the age have endowed humanity today with almost unexampled powers. And a closer contemplation will doubtless reveal the enormous cultural potentialities of these new extensions of man's personality.

Take, as an ever-recurring example in our daily lives, the vast telephone system of the United States. Some 20,000,000 telephones in this country are interconnected by enough wire to reach more than half the distance from the earth to the sun. A great proportion of the social and business communication of the nation is transacted by means of the 60,000,000 separate conversations carried on over the telephone each day. Through transoceanic aerial links, the countries of the world are now united into one grand "planetary chain."

As we look down the perspective of the past, the great achievements of our scientific ancestors—Pythagoras, Euclid, Galileo, Kepler, Newton—appear endowed with spiritual quality. The past was golden. But why does it follow that therefore the present is dull and leaden? The vision of the spiritual and esthetic significance of the present age apparently is vouched to but few. Yet those few are eminently worth listening to and heeding.

Who shall say, queries Gen. Squier, that this age does not rival the golden age of Pericles? The telephone system of today is a business, but it is also as spiritual and artistic, in its own new way, as the design of St. Peter's, the painting of the Sistine Madonna, or the composition of a Beethoven sonata.

The entire civilized world of today is one vast complex of the most sensitive transmitters and coherers. The delicate cobwebs of antennae spun by the scientist upon tenuous towers of steel flung up against the sky bring to our ears, as we sit in comfortable drawing rooms, the voice of the explorer lost in Arctic wilds, the mellifluous notes of the great opera singer, news of the marvelous discovery of the buried tomb of an ancient Egyptian king, the latest message to his people of the President of this mighty republic. Multitudinous messages from the dim remote, the beneficent blessings of science, flock in upon our thrilled and enraptured senses. The glorious dream of the collective consciousness of mankind is at last brought within measurable reach of human realization.

The radio is a great democratic instrument. It places emphasis upon clear thinking rather than upon loose emotionalism. The demagogue has a poor chance over the radio beside the clear thinker and lucid expositor of ideas. As Millikan says, the radio should aid largely in enabling the public to follow the developments in the various fields of thought and life as it ought to follow them in order to exercise well the responsibilities of citizenship and to get the maximum satisfaction out of living.

Gestures Are Not Enough

Prosperity Loan Plan Offers Sound Way Out of Dilemma of Glutted Markets.

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

RECENT episodes of electrified enthusiasm in security and commodity markets indicate that the world has grown tired of remaining pessimistic.

Accordingly, this seems to be the psychological moment for pushing forward soundly conceived schemes for laying the basis for a return of genuine prosperity.

Numerous artificial price valorization plans of governments and private groups have failed. Perhaps a reason for this is that they were based on exploitation of the buyer, rather than on service for the consumer. Too much emphasis has been laid on restricting supply, and too little on increasing demand.

TANGIBLE purchasing power must be released into the economic machine to make the wants of hungry and under-supplied men, women and children effective in world markets.

To set the wheels of industry and agriculture fully in motion again, William Randolph Hearst has proposed that the federal government borrow $5,000,000,000, and spend the proceeds for the employment of the jobless on essential public works.

This suggestion goes to the heart of the economic problem, for the present low pressure in business springs largely from a deficiency of capital expenditures on permanent improvements.

THE time is propitious for action, because the mistakes, excesses and delusions of the earlier period of business activity have been thoroughly deflated.

Accordingly, with the price level low and subnormal, the foundation has been laid for sound building.

Such a courageous program will not only turn the public psychology from pessimism to hopefulness, but will create conditions which will absorb seemingly unwanted surpluses of raw materials.

The great public construction program will call into play co-operative influences, which in the past have been mobilized only for war.

Mr. Hearst's peace and prosperity plan gives the country an opportunity to demonstrate that it does not require the lashing of war, pestilence or earthquake to rouse itself for concerted action.

The world's richest nation, which raised 20,000,000,000 in dollars for destructive purposes in the last war, is capable of raising one-quarter of that amount for social reconstruction and the return of prosperity.

Delay will be unspeakably costly, and may condemn the families of millions of destitute unemployed to an unbearable third winter of hardship, privation and malnutrition.

The existing vicious circle of depression has cut down the monetary income of farmers 40 per cent since 1929, and left vast sections of industrial population dependent on public and private charity.

A vast program for productive public works, such as were advocated by President Hoover before his election, would give a material basis for the return of more than transient optimism.

The suggested plan offers an economically sound way out of the dilemma of glutted markets while millions are suffering from inability to buy the things they acutely need.

It is folly to blame the machine for the troubles of man, when means are available for untangling the machines.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THEN WHY TRY?

Yes, I know there's a beautiful theory that "birds in one little nest should agree"—but the human race has been trying for about 50,000,000 years to make that theory work and has never succeeded yet. So why not learn sense?

The plain truth is that maybe we'll like our relations, but the chances are just as strong that we won't. And it's neither unnatural nor ignoble if we don't. The mere fact that several people share the same name, blood and roof is no guarantee that they have a single, vital interest in common—or can become even congenial, much less friendly.

And this applies to the most intimate relationships. Your sister or brother, your mother or father, your own child, may all be as alien to you as African pigmies. That's nothing against them, nor against you. You all may be excellent people, in your way—yet your natures may be poles apart. In that case, the effort to establish close and affectionate relationships is utterly futile and bound to result in bitterness.

I have never seen statistics on Family Rows, but I'll wager they waste more time, energy and valuable human emotion than all the wars, pestilences, earthquakes, droughts, floods, fires and economic slumps combined. If there is an unmitigated Public Enemy it's the Family Row—Yet we insist that it's inevitable and even excusable, in the name of love. But Family Rows have nothing to do with love, and it's as vicious to spoil our lives "fightin' with the folks" as it is to indulge in any other degrading dissipation.

If you don't like your relations . . . or they don't like you . . . don't waste any more time sniffling or sentimentalizing over the situation. Don't think that some day you and Darling Clara will get along because there's a blood tie between you. Blood tie be hanged! If you don't like each other, you never will--and there's no good reason why you should. Then face the fact and act upon it.

Stop squabbling with Darling Clara. Stop letting her squabble with you. Stop hairin' up all your friends and kin with tearful accounts of your brawls and demands that they Take Sides. IF YOU CAN'T GET ALONG WITH CLARA, CUT HER OUT! Stop seeing her. Stop talking to her. Stop talking ABOUT her. For remember, the brawl you carry on INSIDE you is as demoralizing as the brawl you carry on outside you. Secret hate is as devastating as open conflict.

So stop trying to love Clara. But also stop hating her. Wish her well and go your way—clear your program of her entirely.

But suppose she continues to act mean? Well, suppose she does. Chances are she will. But that's Clara's bad luck—it needn't be YOURS. The other fellow's malice can never do you much damage unless you let it get your goat. Stop fussing about Clara and in time she'll stop fussing AT you.

No it isn't, stranger. It's smart. And it's civilized. And you deserve all you get if you don't act that way!
